Tracey
you are a good person sometimes but when I ask for pin or paper you should give it to me
Oh you understand more that next year we have more we can go together and then we can go together that teacher instead of John's.

Tracey
your girl sweet can get we can coach

What a Spirit

CHS, what a spirit. That special spirit really seemed to sparkle and shine this year. From the homecomings, to the floats, to freezing at the ballgames, to the pep assemblies, we really had that CHS spirit. What a great year this was as spirit radiated through our halls, our pep rallies, and our special events.

There is another spirit at CHS though — a quieter one — those times of friends supporting friends, of the times we stood up for each other. We had our share of bad times too, though, as any good friends know. But in the end that spirit came around and bonded us together as best of friends again. It is not always spoken of, but it is there. We are each different individuals here at CHS; each one of us is a very special person, and when we all join together it is a very special spirit — that CHS special spirit.

Fired Up

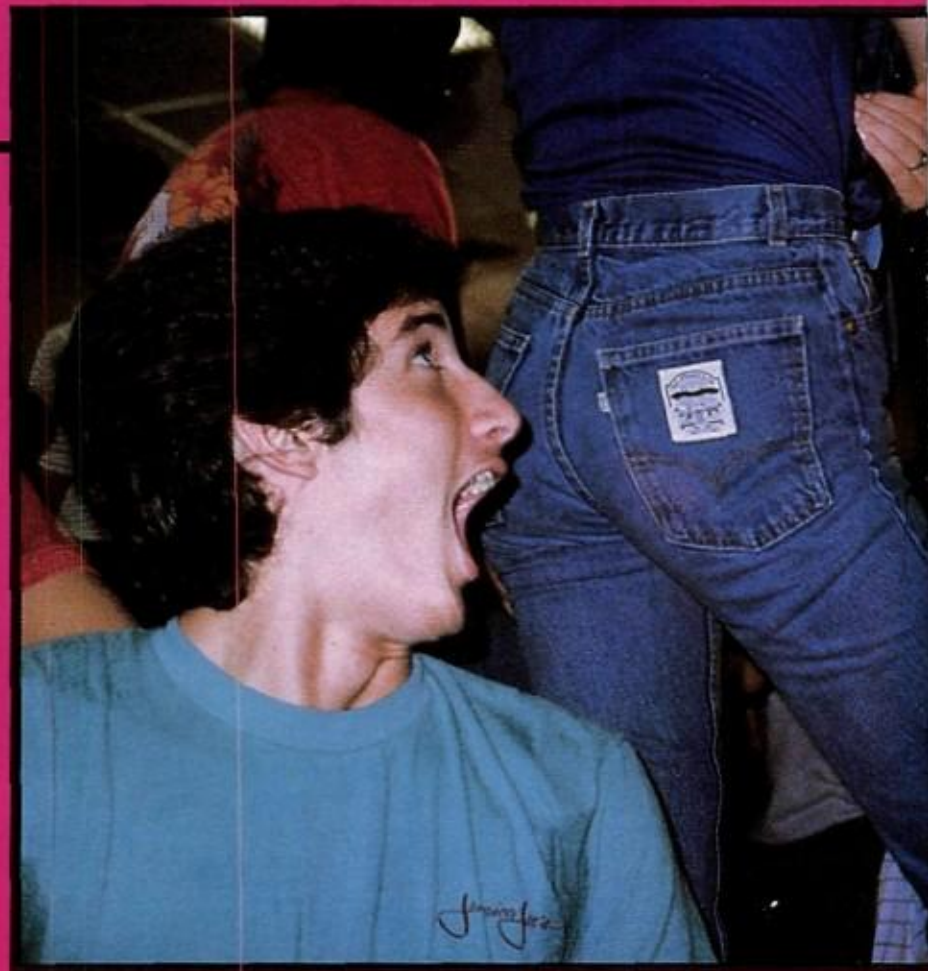

With Spirit

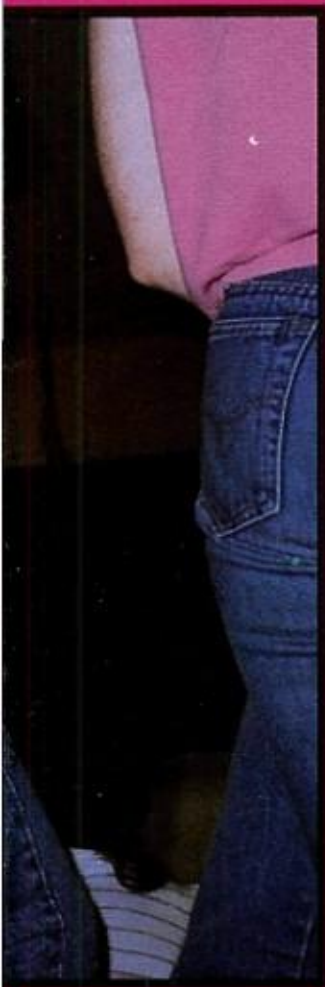

Cordell High School isn't any basic school, it's a place where people learn to love and laugh. The spirit that surrounds our school comes from the people within it. A spirit of being a part of CHS is shown in everybody's faces every day. From the smiles on the faculty's faces to looks of mischief on the students' faces, a spirit of happiness is shown constantly. The spirit that is felt and shown is indescribable, unless you're a part of it. From the Sophomore class to the Senior class, there is a part of that spirit that will carry on with us the rest of our lives. That is the memory of fun and friends and all the good times we've shared. That's what makes our special spirit.

Becky poses as the world's first human PINA COLADA.

Ronnie tells us that a half pound between his cheek and gum is all it takes.

Mitch is overwhelmed by the quality stitching put in every pair of Levi's jeans.

ON GUARD — Jeff Rainbolt, the master of dress and manners, strikes a GQ pose for the camera.

The Killer Football strikes fear into Jami, Michelle, and Shelly while they lounge around the new locker room.

Some things speak for themselves as does the spirit at a Blue Devil pep assembly.

True Blue Spirit

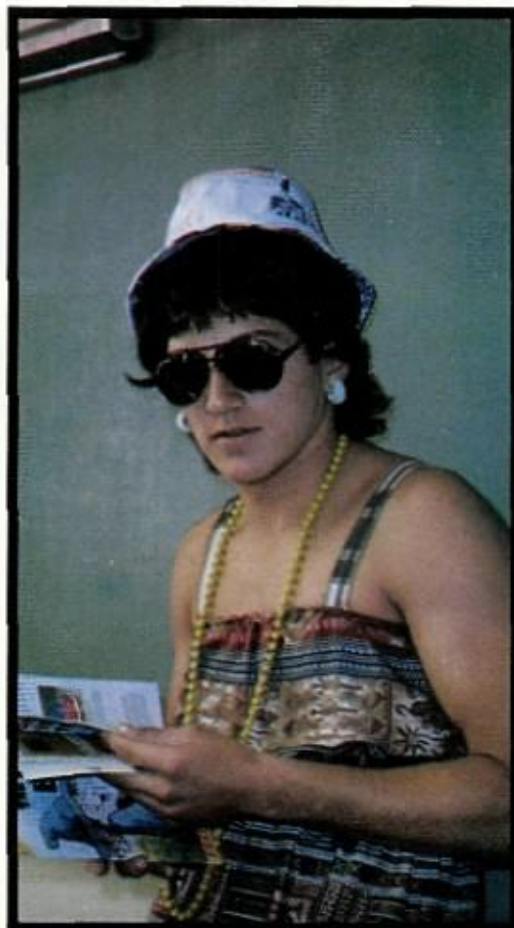

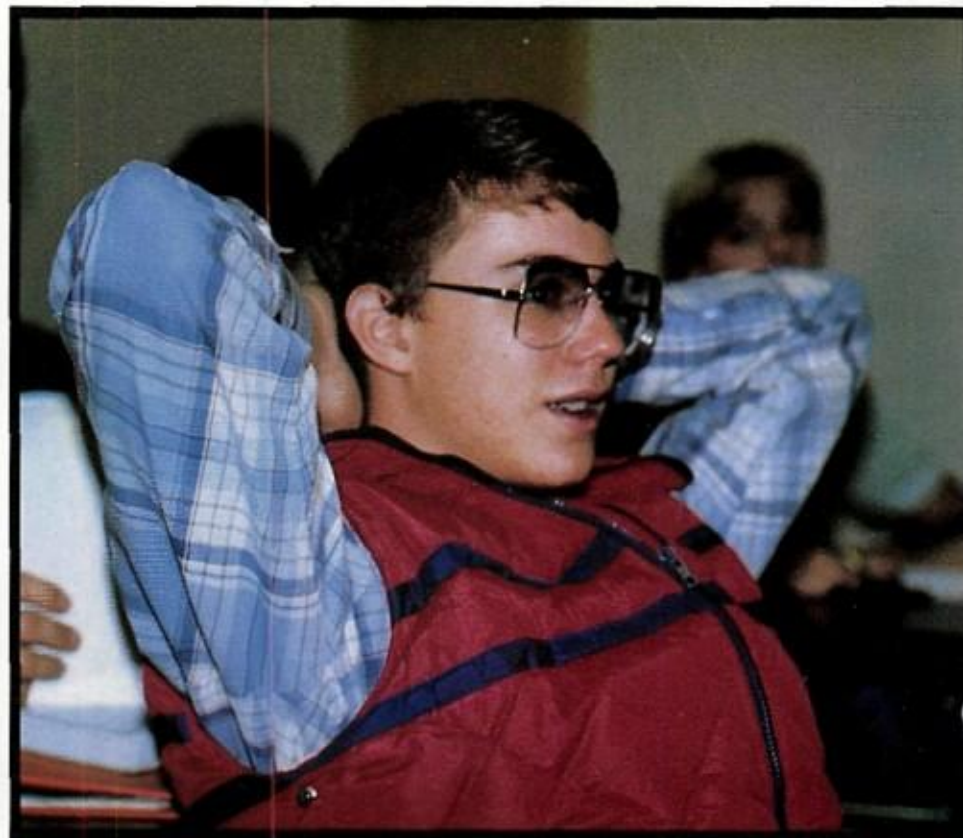

We each know the feeling! Whether winning or losing, at home or away, in times of tears or triumph, no matter where we went or what we did — that TRUE BLUE SPIRIT always shone through. We were always proud to say, "Hey, I'm a Blue Devil," and show that spirit only known to us. At every activity we participated in, our combination of pride and that Special Spirit showed that each of us from Cordell High is a winner. Many of our paths may never cross again, but each and every one of us will always cherish the memories of our high school days at CHS. Those memories will be filled with that Spirit that each of us knows so well.

Starla (Chuckles) Miller gets a big kick out of the pictures she browses through during annual class.

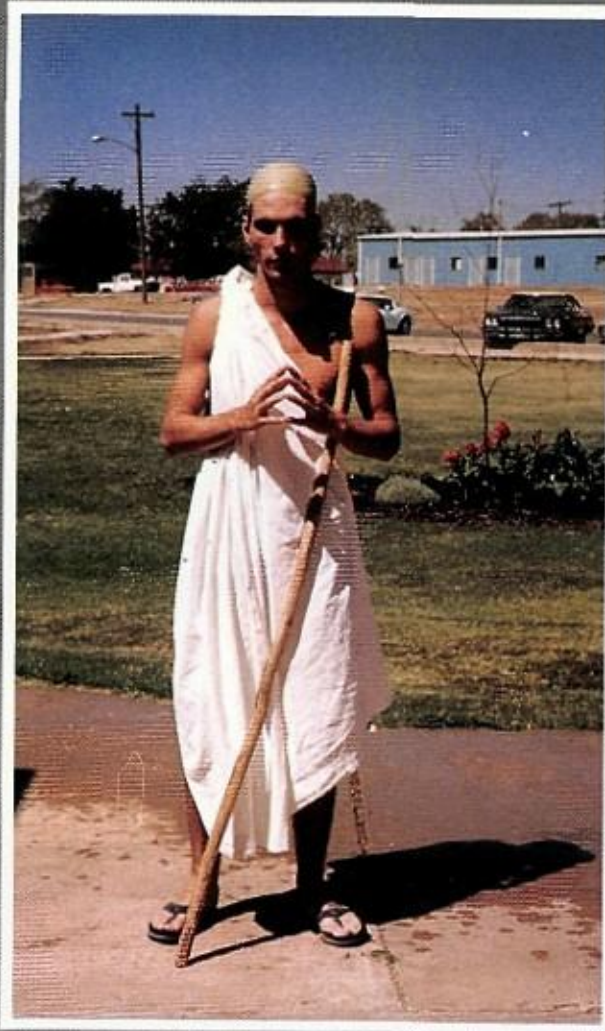

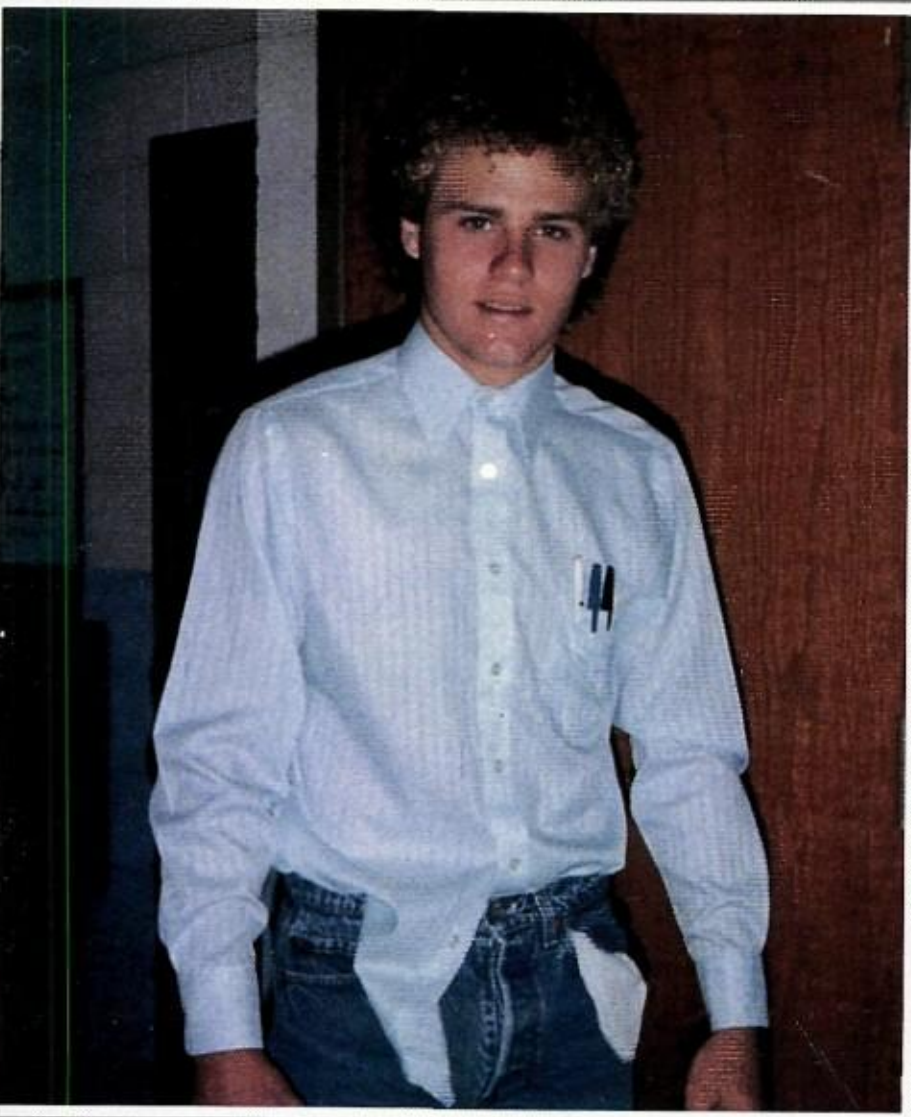

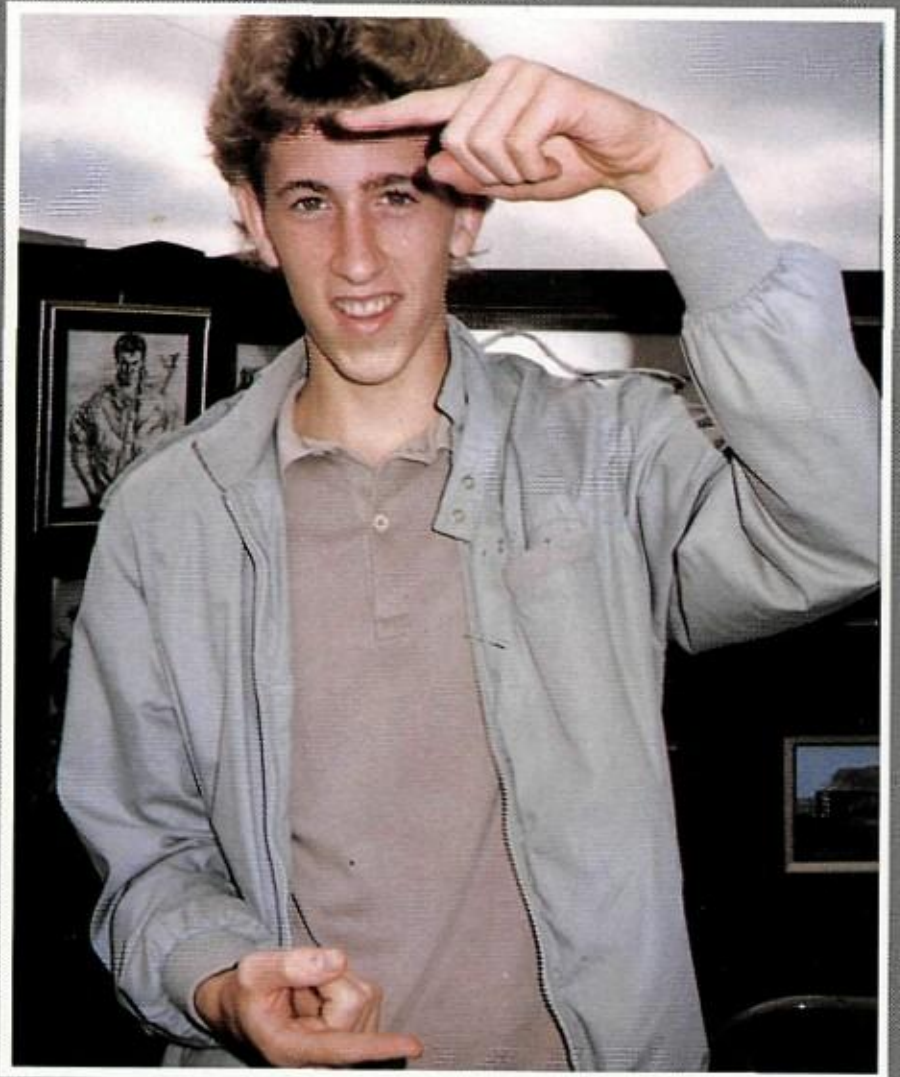

Seniors Live Life to the Fullest

The Class of '85 proved that there exists a special spirit among our class that only we can have. Throughout the year, an enthusiastic Senior Class ruled CHS, and set the trend for the underclassmen to follow. Whether it was a stock show, a football game, a speech tournament, or a party, the seniors were always there in force and leading Cordell High on to victory and glory. Living life to the fullest was never difficult for the "alive" Class of '85.

From the unexplained disappearance of street signs in Clinton, to the thousands of pounds of aluminum we invested in, to the trips to Texas (?) and the big class gatherings at Mitch's, we have always managed to have fun. Our lives have been filled with perhaps a small amount of mischief, but there have been some memorable occasions, too. Rock Hole never slowed us down because we're the class that's never boring, we're the class that's always alive, we're the Class of '85.

THE Juniors

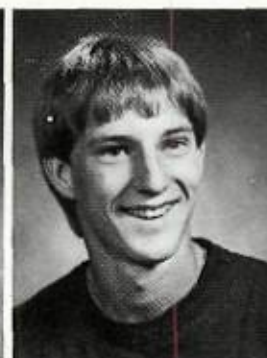

The Class of '86 looked ahead to our Junior year with much excitement and anticipation; however, we had no idea what we were in for. There was so much to do! But no matter what we did, it was done with style and enthusiasm. From creating the winning float for homecoming to sponsoring dances to raising $1500 serving calf fries for Sunday dinner, we kept busy and had a blast. It wasn't all work, either. We had many new experiences, selling the school for one; and who would have believed we would survive the perils of Halloween night in the back of Darren's green bomb? Class rings were also a new topic of discussion as most of our class made a difficult choice of which style we wanted. We made it through one more year; now we're looking forward to the experiences of our last!

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores of 1985 made that change with little effort to survive the three big events of high school life: report cards, homecoming floats, and drivers licenses. Just because the sophomores survived these events doesn't mean the rest of the community survived. Like every sophomore class, the sophomores of '85 somehow received their licenses to drive (or injure). There was always a sophomore lurking in the shadows waiting for some unsuspecting victim to get in his or her way. From the Loftiss's family wagon to Michael Dixon's death machine, the cost of car insurance went up and the Cordell Police Department had a few more tickets to write. But sophs made it and even perhaps learned something in the process, and they did it all with Cordell Blue Devil Spirit.

SLOW TIMES AT CORDELL HIGH

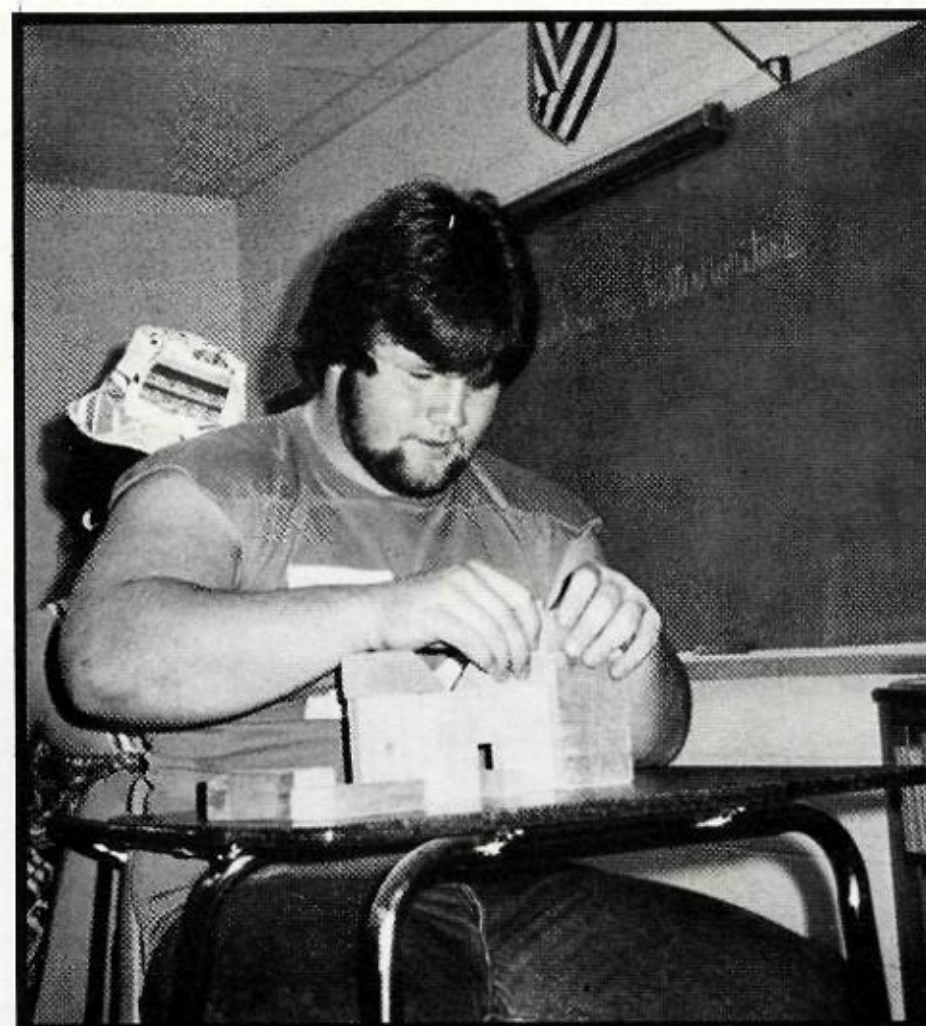

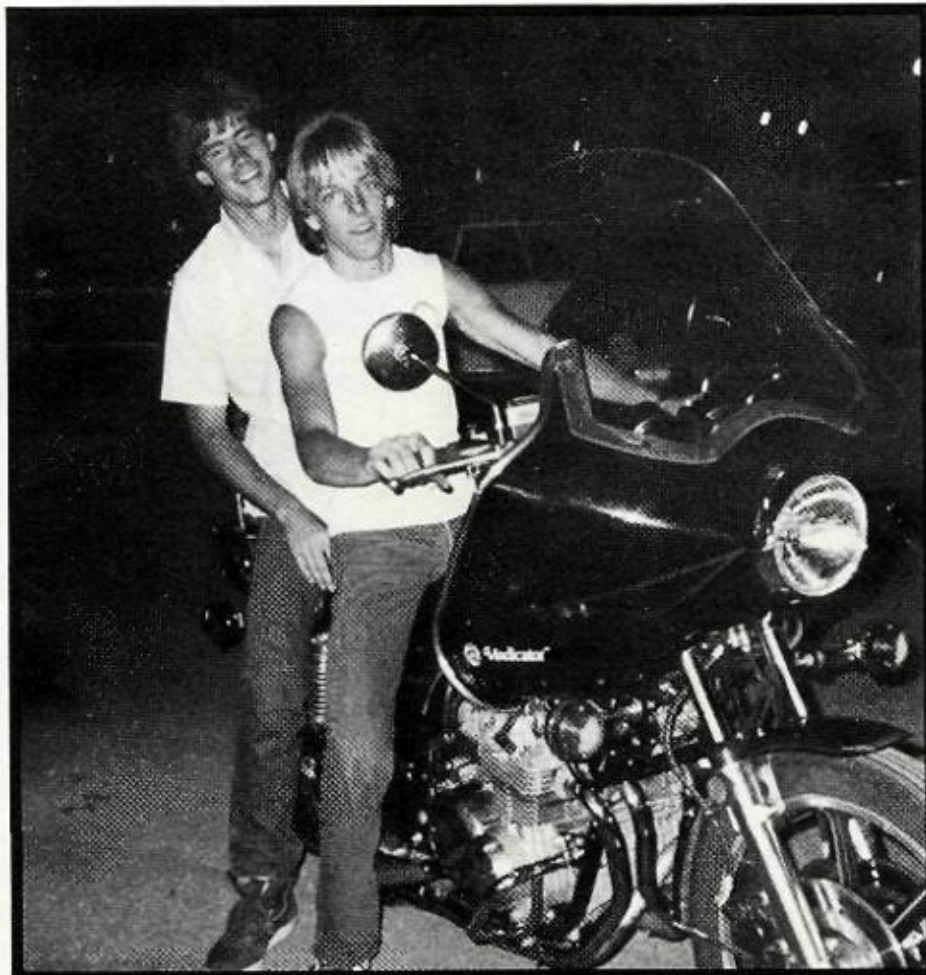

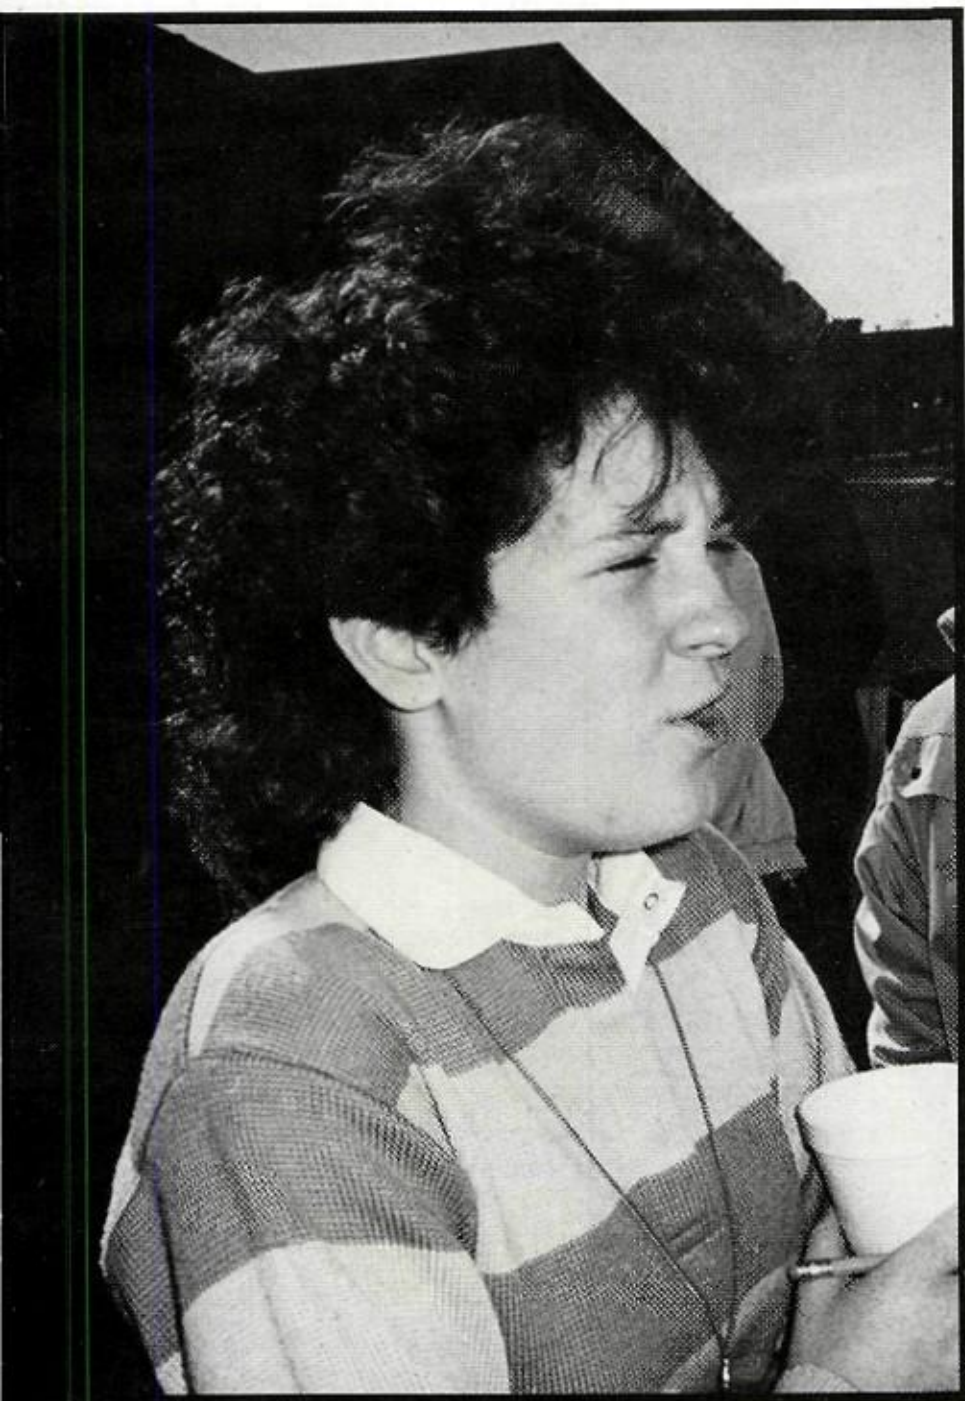

Between the excitement of homecomings, basketball games, football games, the prom, mock trial meetings, and speech contests, there was plenty of time for CHS students to be bored. Unlikely as it seems, there aren't many other activities to take part in. But that didn't stop us; we made our own fun. While teachers were rejoicing over any small break in activities and a chance to get back to school work, students were planning parties or thinking up a new way to get out of class. But we managed to get all (or most) of our work done and still have a continuous good time throughout the year.

StuCo

Governs

Serving with pleasure the students of Cordell High, the 1984-85 student council members led CHS in an active year. Council members coordinated football, wrestling, and basketball homecomings, and sponsored the bonfire before the Tipton game.

Each day council members were responsible for raising the flags of our nation, state, and school. And each Monday, the voice of President Mitchell Fuller graced the rooms and halls of CHS with the weekly announcements.

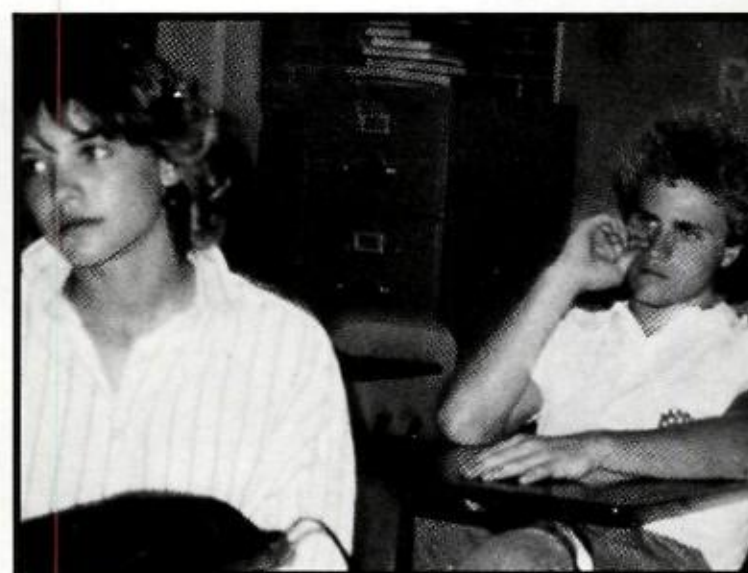

In March, the officers gave educators from North Central a tour of all Cordell schools and the town.

All in all, the student council was problem-solvers and trouble-shooters.

MARCHING TO VICTORY

Sleepy-eyed band members dragged themselves off to school early for pre-school rehearsals which were important in maintaining their quality performance. The band earned Superior ratings at both the Pre-District and Regional Marching contests. In December, they hosted the All Region Band tryouts, in which 14 students received honors.

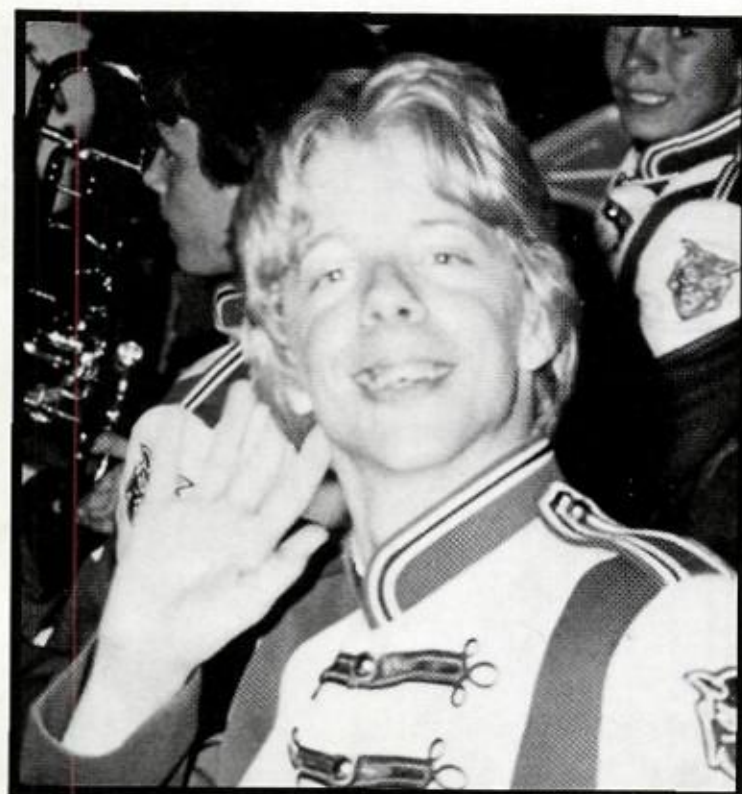

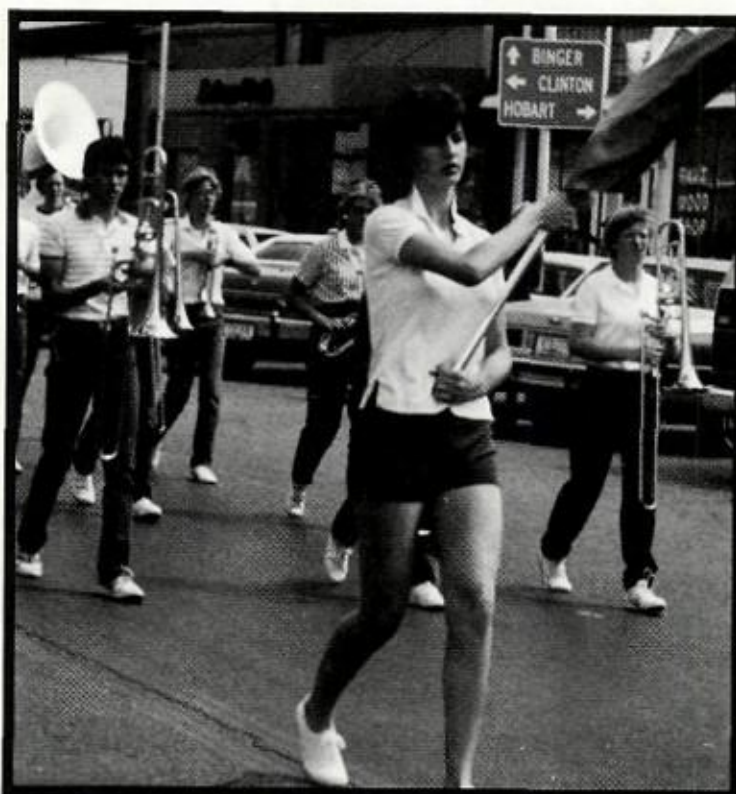

Highlight for the Concert Band was the Annual Christmas Concert. The Stage Band entertained at ball games, at the Cordell Hospital Banquet, and placed 1st in the State Stage Band competition.

More Than Just a Sweet Note

For most students, music consisted only of heavy metal and popular tunes, but by performing everything from "Guys and Dolls" to the Spring Concert, the vocal musical department helped to broaden everyone's outlook on music.

The extravagant performances were the finished result of many hours of dedicated work. More than just singing was necessary to prepare for each performance. First, money had to be raised for costumes, the props to be painted by the Art Club and publicity created. It was not unusual to see dedicated choir members carrying boxes or bags of fund-raisers along with their homework. Dedicated members are indeed a strong breed. Along with their director, Miss Carlson, they gave their best effort in competition for District, Alva and Tri-State contests.

This year the chorus took up permanent residence in the old junior high to enjoy complete facilities, including a stage.

Eat, Drink, and Be Merry! aptly described this year's Spanish Club. Even though the trip to Cancun, Mexico fell through, the weekend in the city compensated for the loss. The Entertainers

If you looked inside the doors of 5th hour Speech class, you would usually find an X-Rated game of charades being played or maybe a booorriing 5-minute speech, but you can always tell that it could be "interesting." Speech students also worked on speech contest materials and rehearsed for the Spring play.

Yearbook Staff

With all the responsibility that no one wanted, the yearbook staff forged through a year filled with pressure — packed deadlines and a constant flow of pictures. But if it required evening work to finish a deadline, yearbook staffers would give their time and effort. From selling ads to shooting the bull, annual staff also had its fun side.

FHA — Go for It!

FHA members put forth much effort to make this the best year ever and results show success. Whether rocking in the rock-a-thon or giving gifts to needy children, they did it all. But FHA was not all work; there was a lot of fun involved too. New members were put into the Christmas spirit early with the help of FHA dress-like-a-Christmas-tree initiation in September. Attending the haunted house on Halloween was also a lot of fun. This was the 40th anniversary for FHA, which helped to make this a record year. As we later look upon our high school years and remember . . . FHA will play a big part in many memories!

FFA — Plowing Into Progress!!!

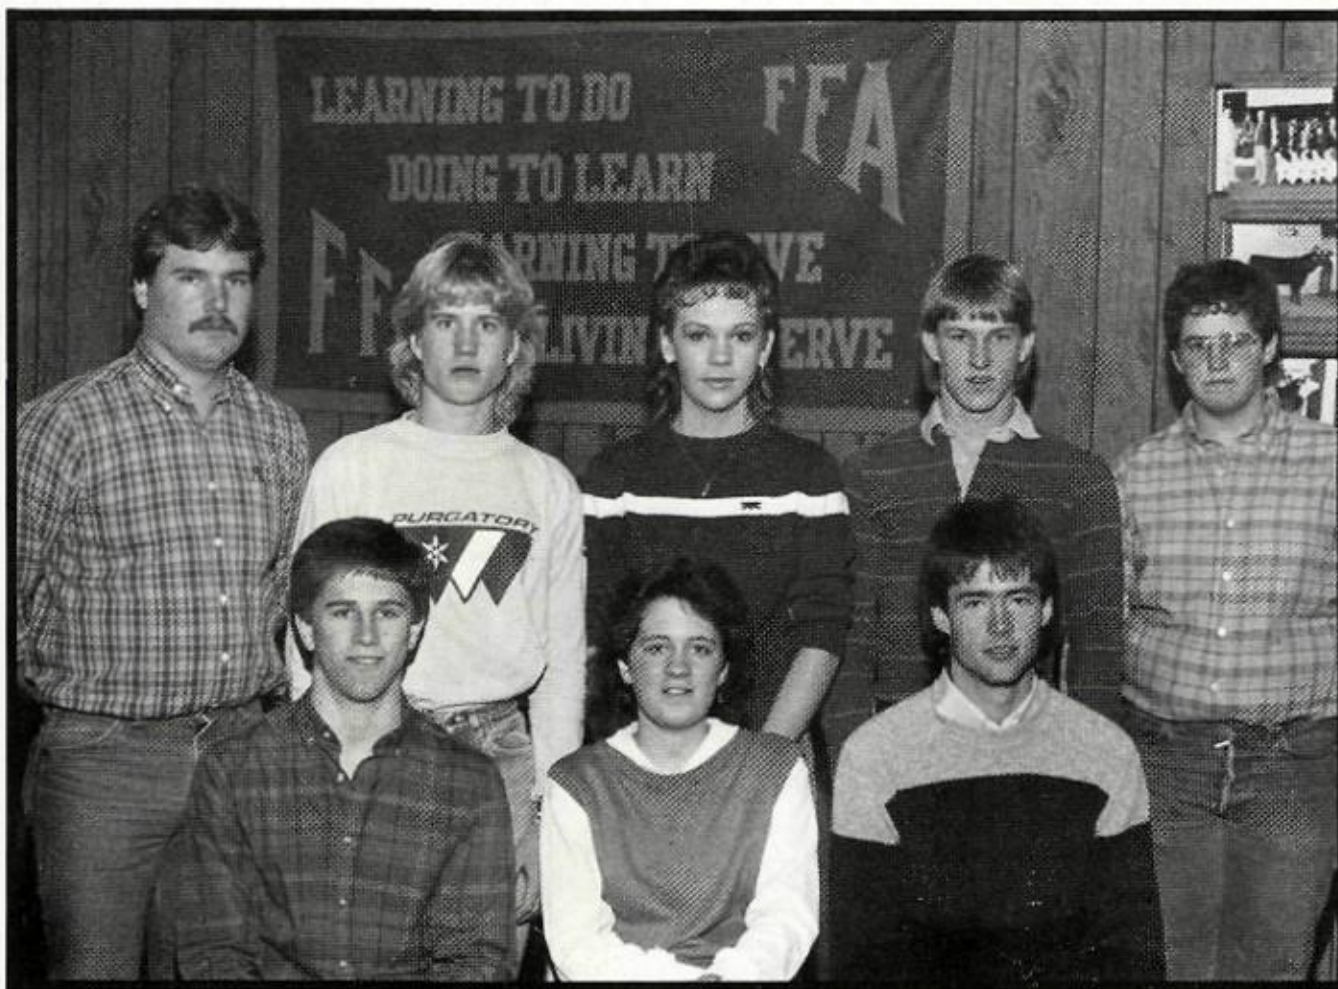

As always, the FFA group of Cordell High proved its worth by capturing many awards at shows all across the state. This required not only the showing, but many, many hours of hard work in preparation for these shows. FFA includes many activities throughout the school year, like the annual slave sale (this year the chapter president brought the high bid of $650.00), the selling of Blue and Gold sausage, and attending the state convention. FFA will continue to progress through summer shows and coming school years, proving that this group is one of the most sound and dedicated groups in school.

GRID IRON

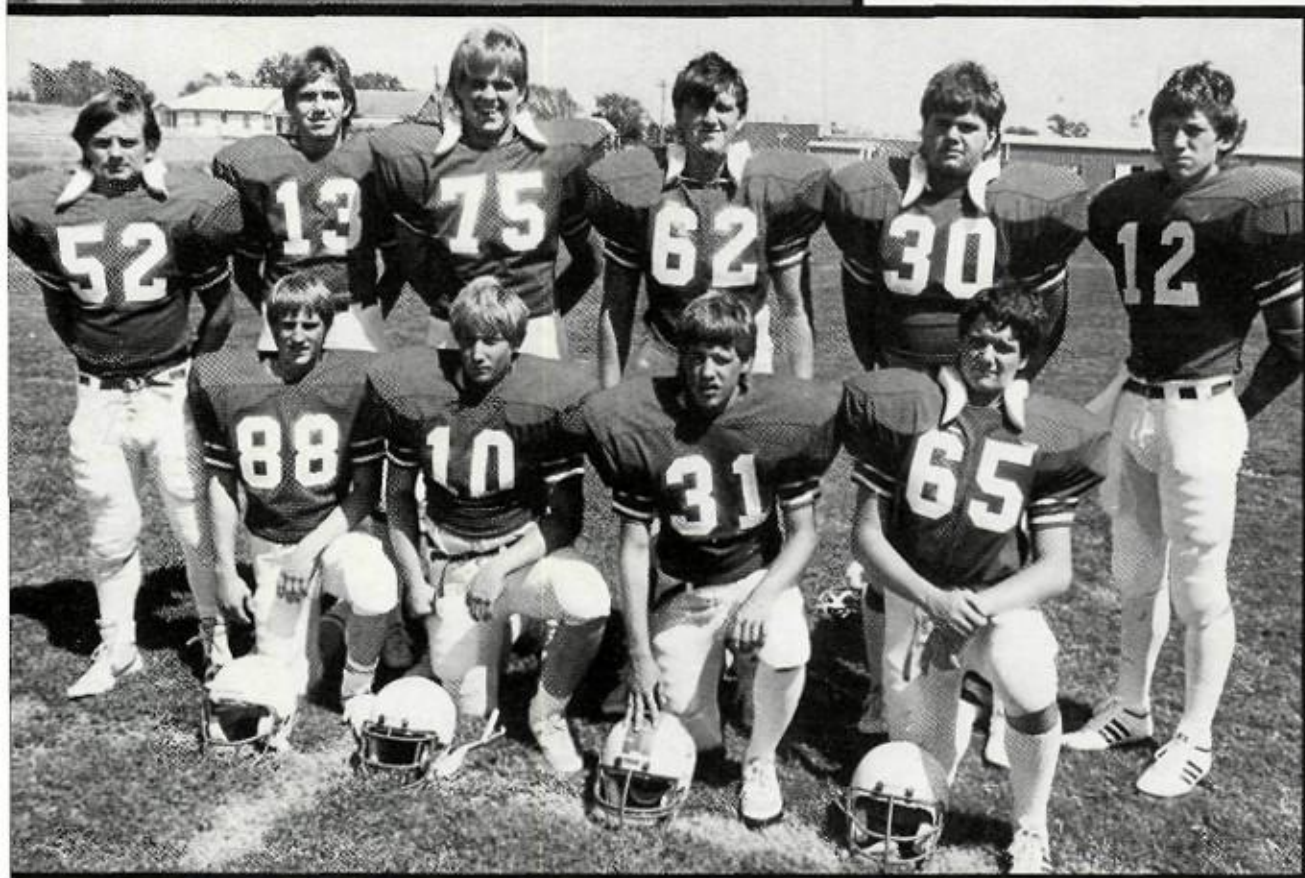

The 1984 football season was again a success. With a record of 7-4 the Blue Devils enjoyed the thrill of victory throughout most of the season.

From the start, the Blue Devils fought for everything. As the season progressed, the Blue Devil football team was struck with injuries, but with excellent coaching and personnel ready to sacrifice whatever they had to win, it brought the Devils the first district championship in a decade.

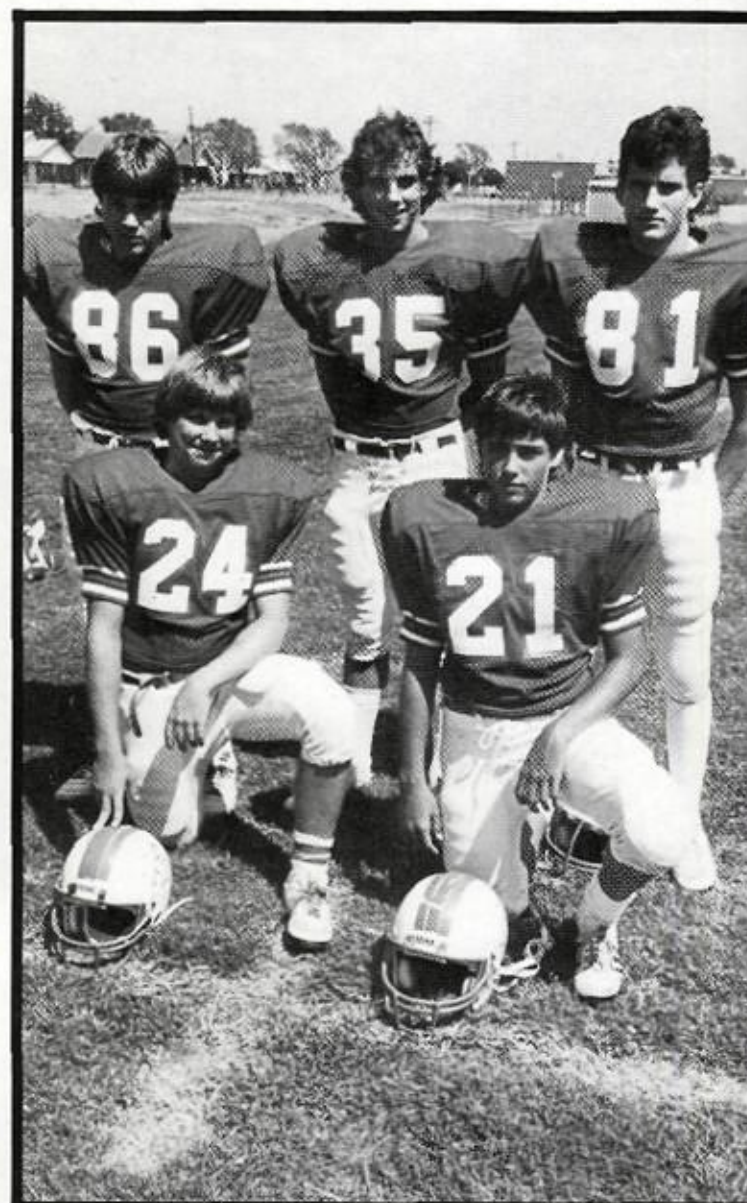

Each member of the Blue Devil squad did his job to the best of his ability: from the hogs annihilating, mangling, and injuring whoever got in their way to the passbusters who tipped away several game-winning passes, it was a team effort and a great year.

THE MAT MEN

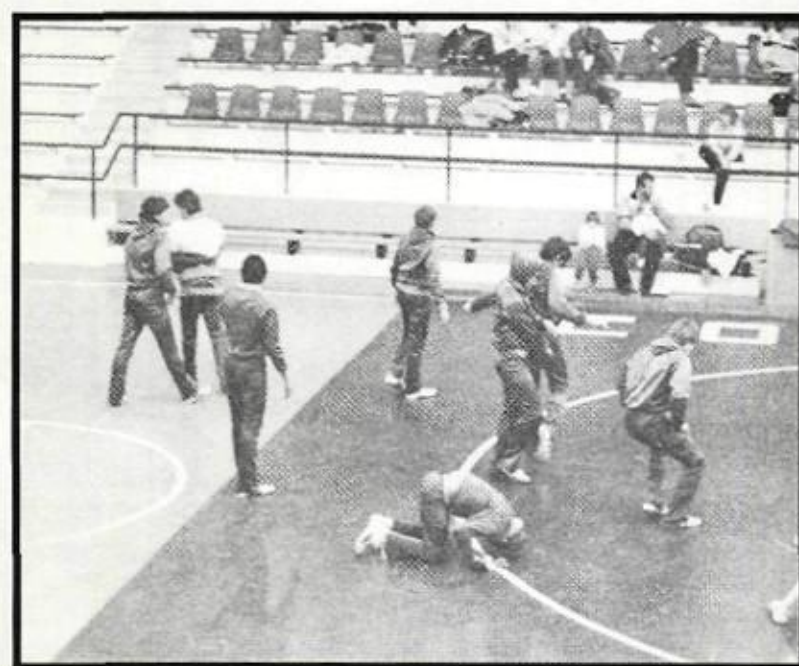

The Blue Devil wrestler is a special breed of athlete with the determination for three hard months of dieting and training and a special kind of courage to go one on one with an opponent for six minutes until one of them comes up as the victor. All of the strategy, skill, strength, and ability is left up to that one individual seeking a high spot on the winner's bracket. These men with their many hard hours of practice and agility represent the finest example of Blue Devil pride.

The excitement of homecoming overwhelms attendants Marc Fuller and Ginny Brown.

Devils Start a Dynasty

Sitting, From Left: Chris Garvin, Scott Wood, Garrick Hall, Mark Burrows, Terril Russ, Jim Burrows, Jeff Rainbolt, Darren Balzer. Standing, From Left: Head Coach Ray West, Statistician Roy Lee Lindsey, Greg Merrill, Gary Hawkins, Derrick Pankratz, Mitchell Fuller, Garett Mantle, Darren Nickel, Kris Schmidt, Scott Hines, Freddie Norton, and Student Asst. Rodney Givens.

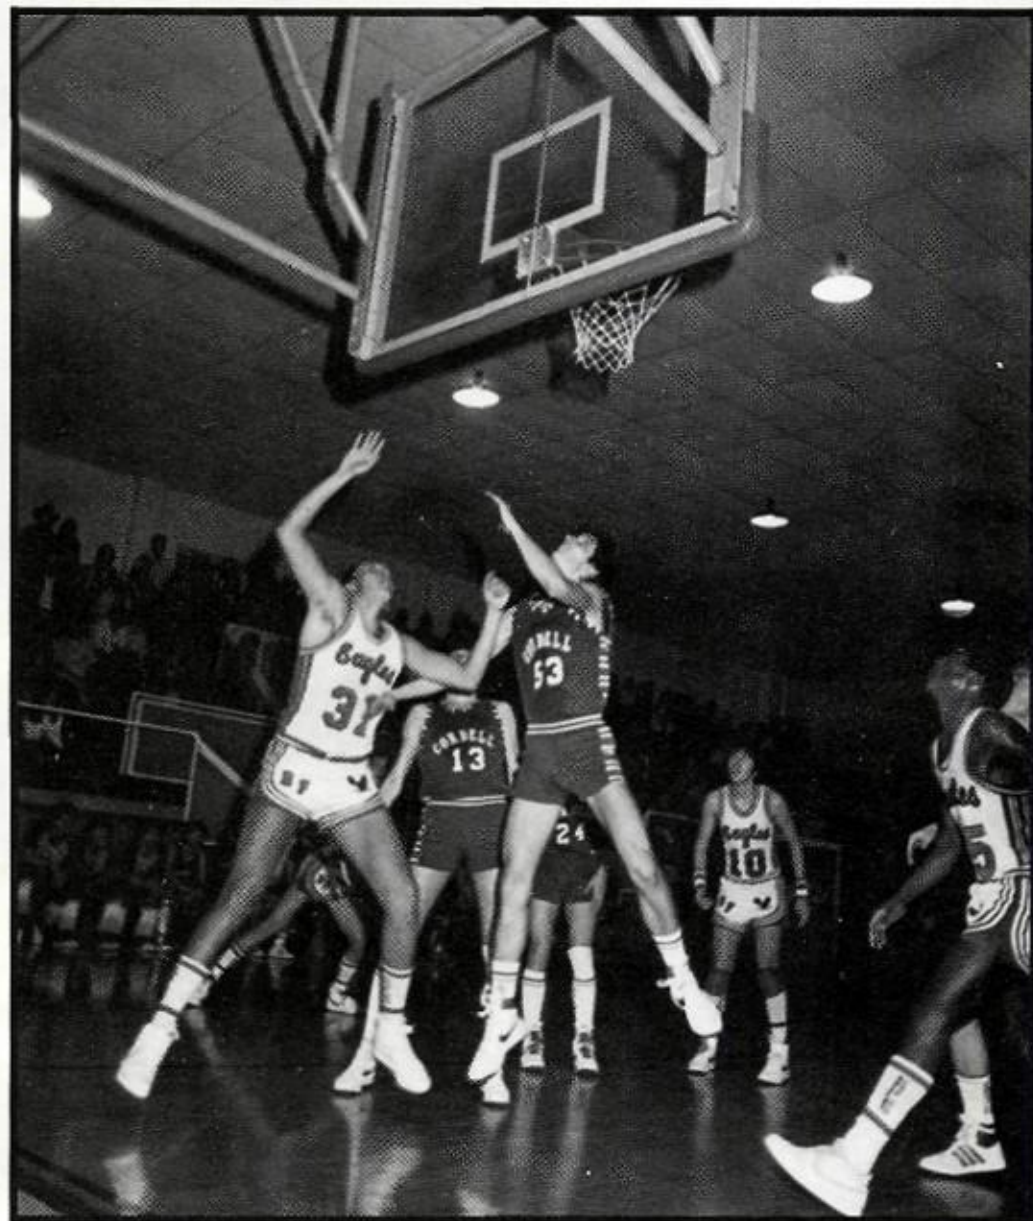

Defense! Defense! Defense! Those ever present words emitted by Coach West were the words that every player dreaded, though in the end, defense paid off in big dividends.

West once again became the well-known, but always feared, Tasmanian Devil on both defensive and offensive drills.

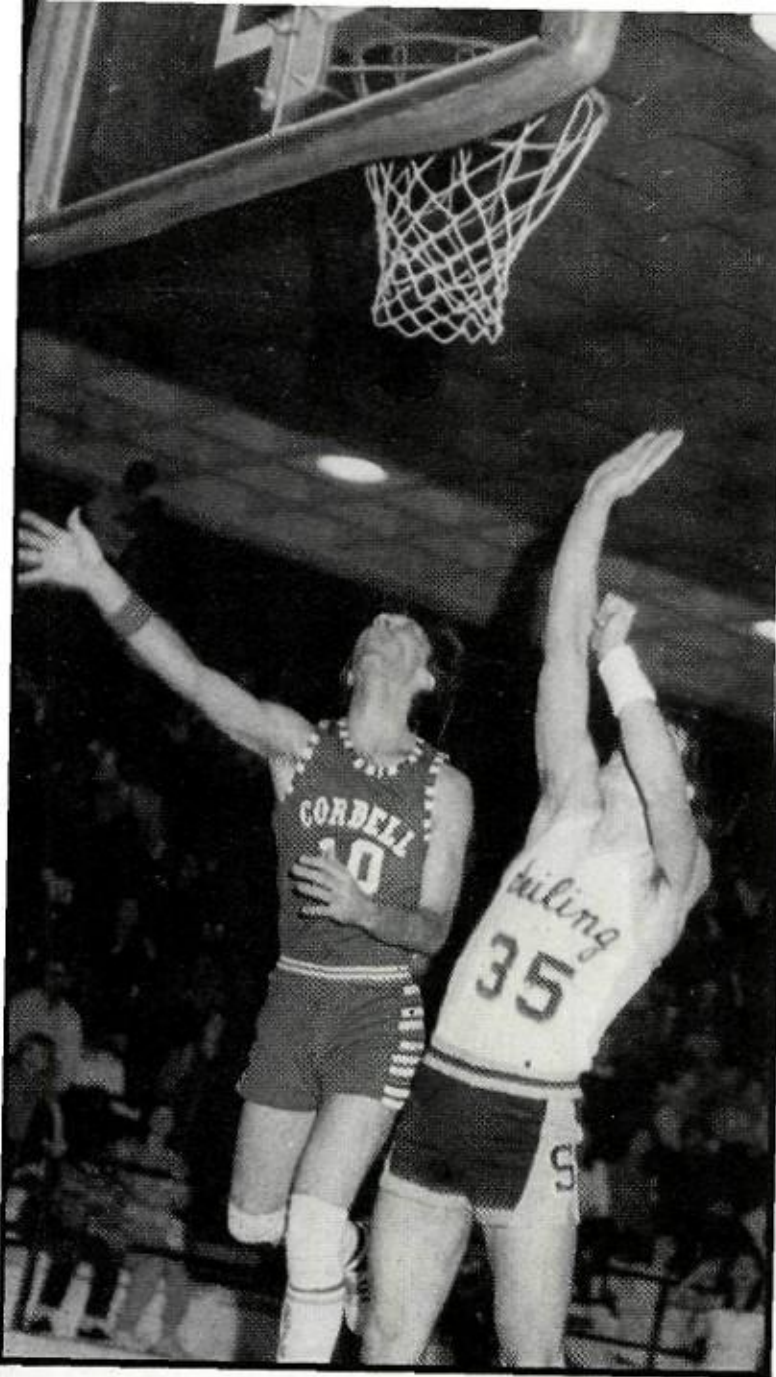

"The sprints, the suicides, the pyramids, the free throw game, and the other 'gettin' in shape' activities; the solos, the pre-game, and the stickum all accounted for some kind of playoff experience," say the players who thank "Benny Hill" for all he required of them.

A dynasty may have begun this year as the Blue Devils advanced to the Class 2A State Tournament for the second consecutive year. After defeating Butner, 75-68, in the first round, the Devils were matched up in the semifinals against eventual state champion Mounds. Trailing 50-29 at halftime, the Devils made an incredible, record-breaking comeback and led by one point in the waning moments of the game. Yet, they fell short and lost 71-78.

Whether three returning starters, a return trip in 1986 to the State Tournament is in the bag.

Mitch Fuller battles for the board in the Burns Flat game.

Kris Schmidt scores in the finals of the Cordell Invitational Tourn.

LADY DEVILS AIM HIGH

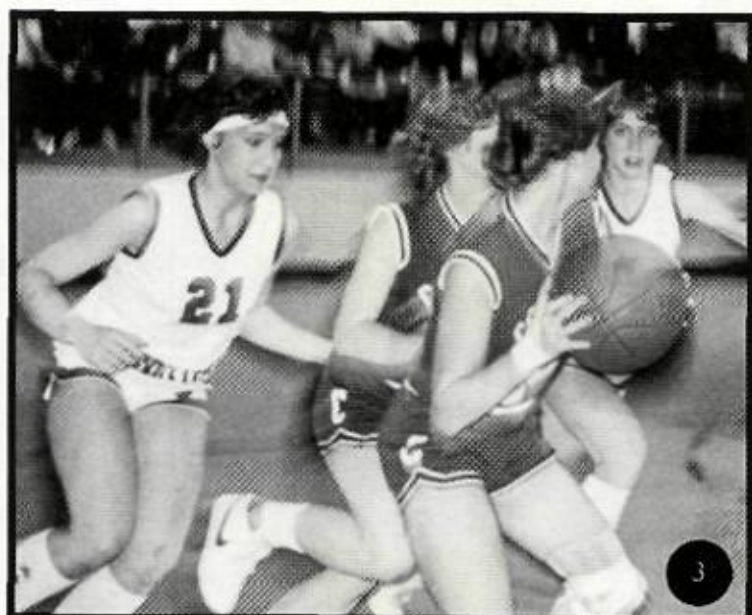

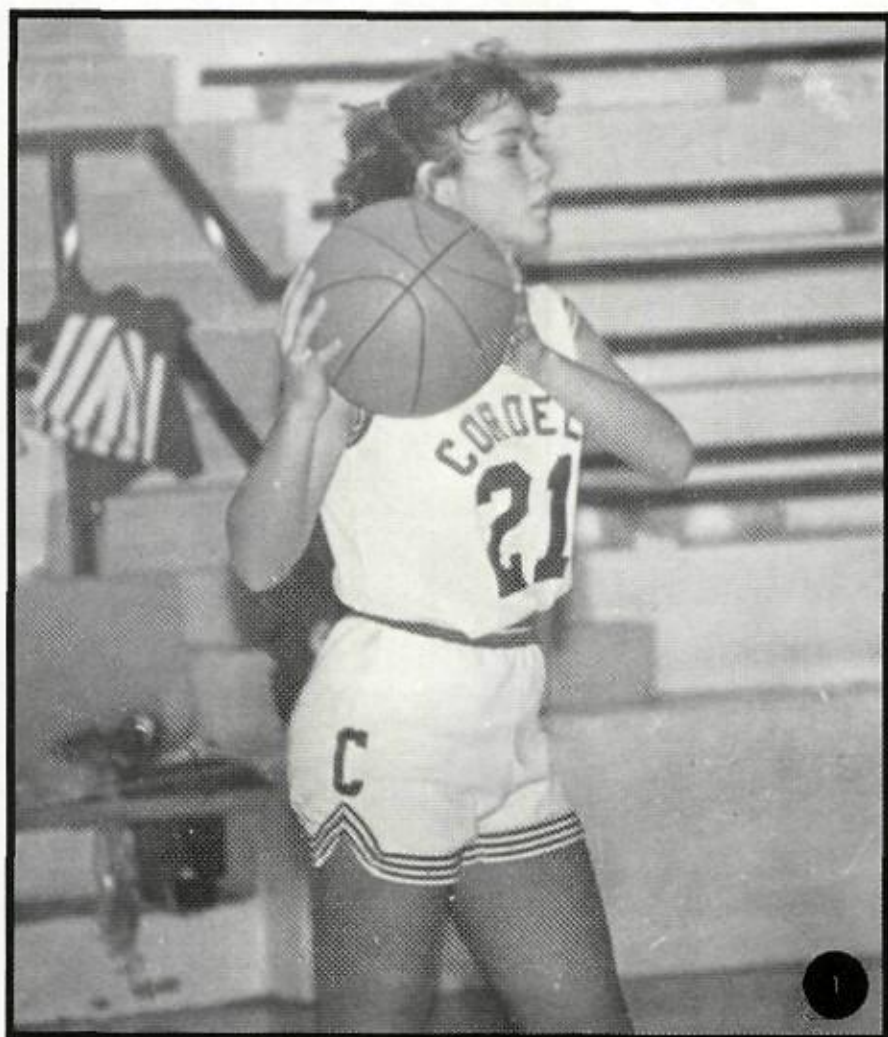

1985 marked a turning point for the Lady Devils. They endured tough competition, but the closeness and togetherness of the team led them to an 11-11 regular season — the best record Cordell girls have had in several years. They held strong through the wins and fought hard through the losses. Although the loss of the first game of the play-offs ended their season, the Lady Devils look forward to next year and the opportunity to start a winning tradition in girls basketball at Cordell High School.

"We Just Want to Have Fun"

became the motto for this year's fantastic cheerleaders.

Full of spirit and cheer, they began the year by bringing home the NCA Spirit Stick Award from summer camp at O.U.

With new yells, clever routines, and fresh skits, the spirited six stirred enthusiasm at pep assemblies and games, boosting Blue Devil teams to victory from September through April of the never-to-be-forgotten sports year.

The "C" club is open to any girl or boy that has lettered in a sport. But lettering isn't easy. To qualify an athlete must play fifteen quarters of football or basketball, and five of those have to be in varsity play.

But who wants to exhaust themselves on Friday night? They do. They give it that extra push and keep on going. That is a special "spirit."

Faculty

Although we students at CHS don't always realize it, the teachers here at Cordell High have a great influence on the life of every one of us.

At times we disagree with their methods, but the faculty at CHS are more than our teachers, they are our friends. In times of trouble, we can turn to them for help and advice.

Jr. High Spirit

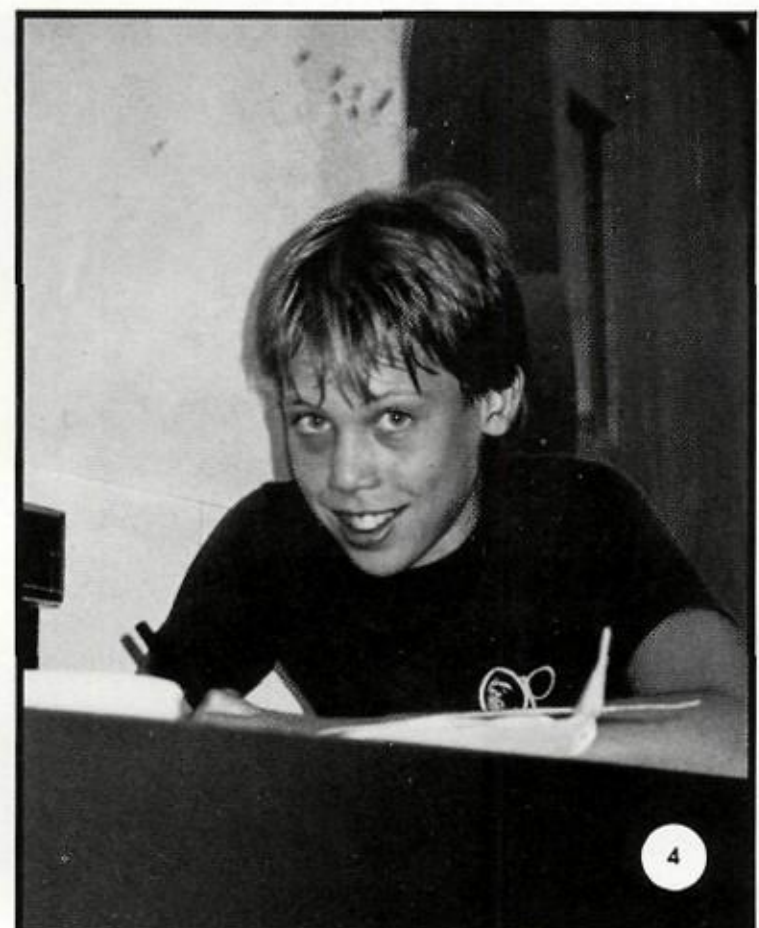

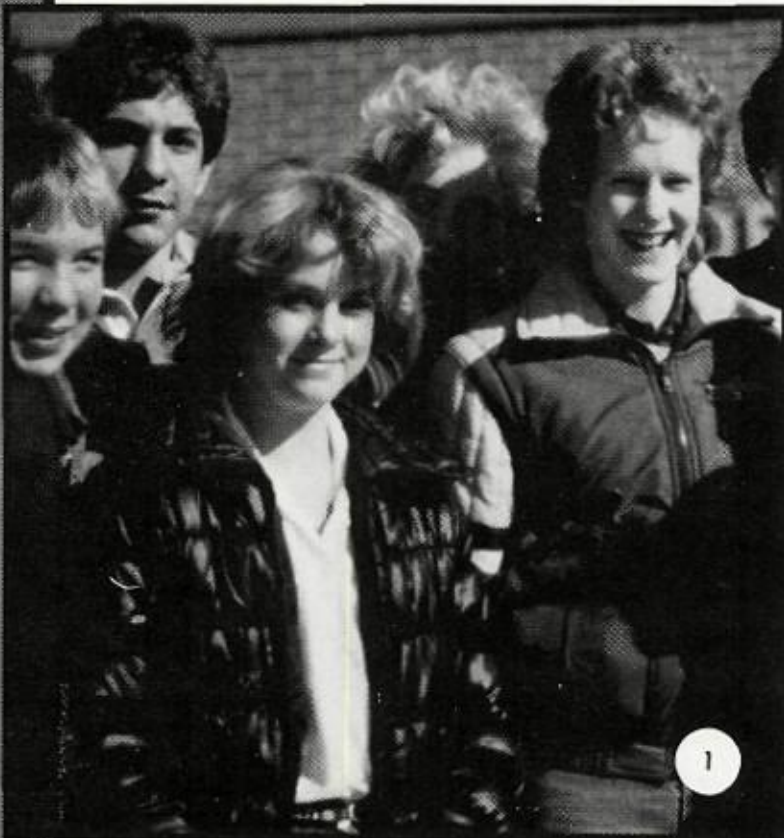

It's a different life inside their new school. The Jr. High students started off the year great. For the 7th graders it was a new life, lockers, new teachers, strange school, tardy bells and being at the bottom again.

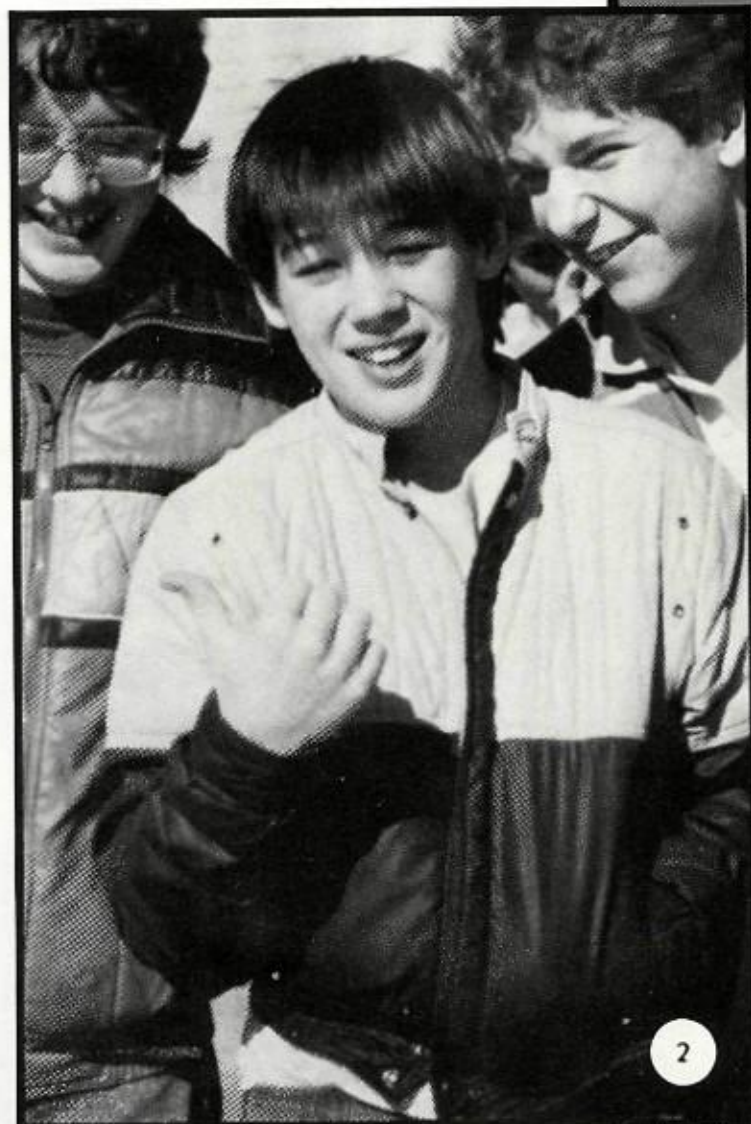

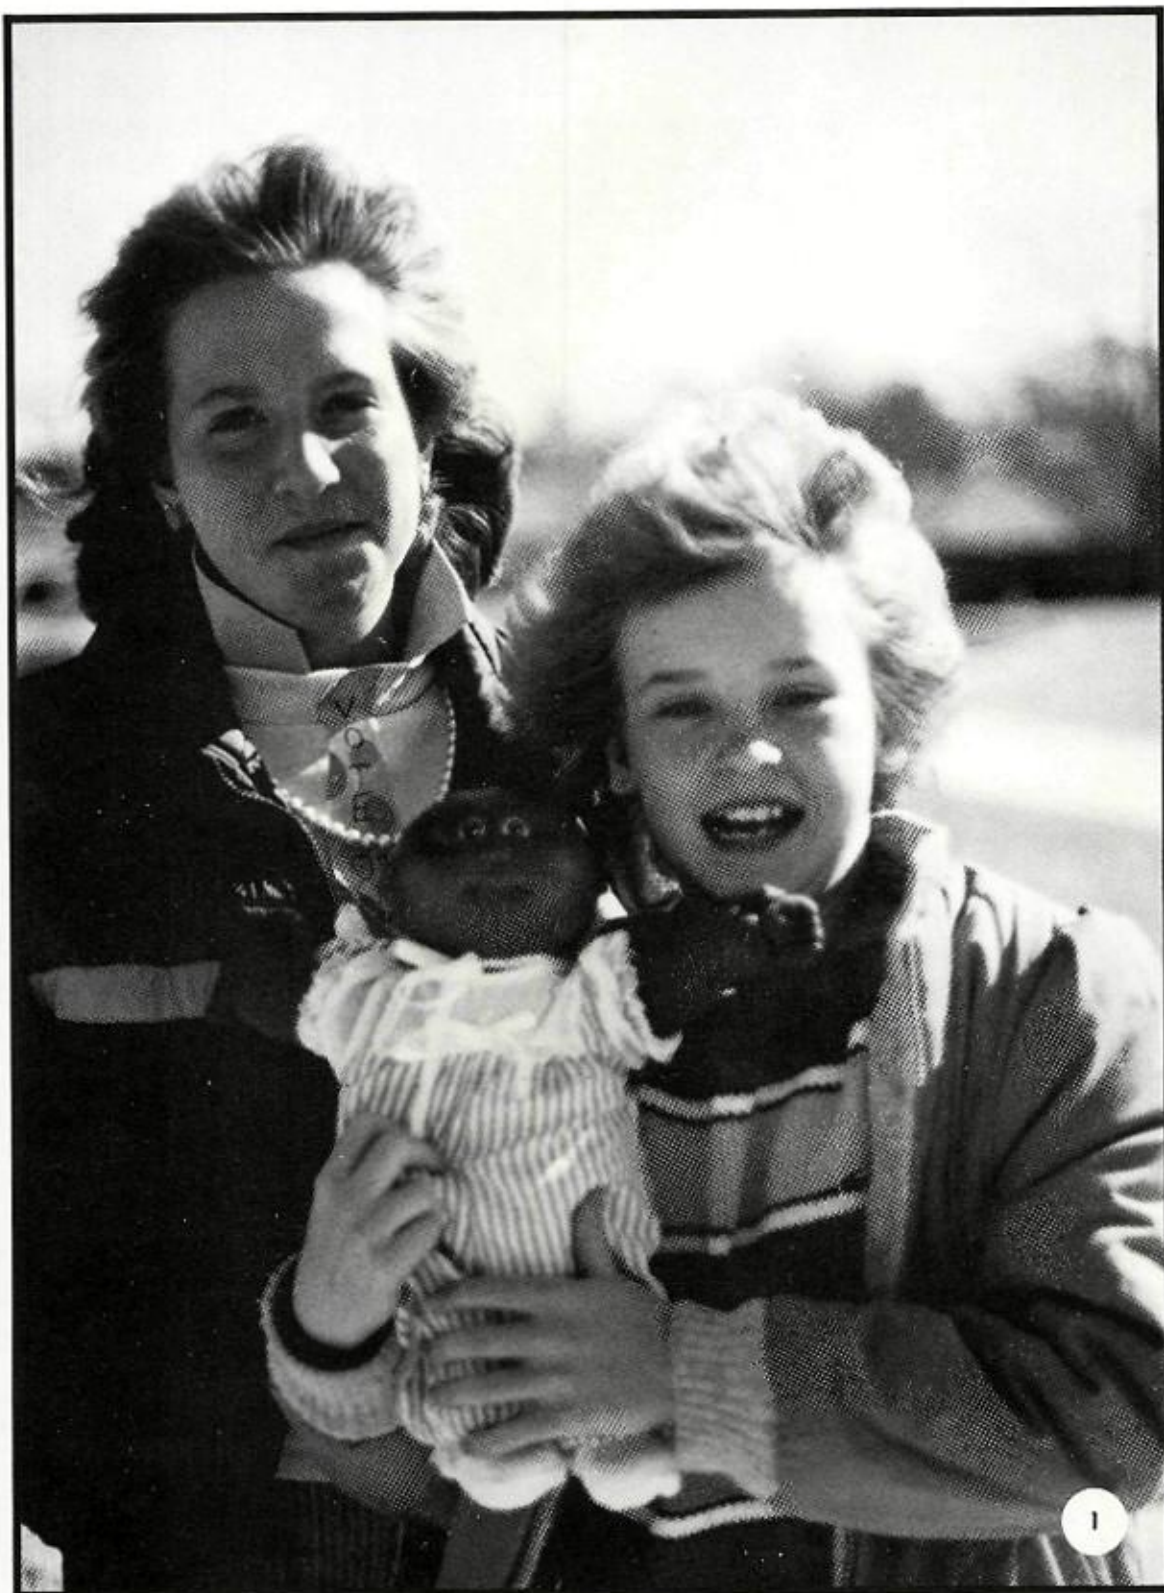

Those who survived the last year feel a sense of triumph. The 8th graders are caught in the middle. They still get picked on by the Freshmen, but they turn right around and take it out on the 7th graders. They've got the pattern of CJHS down and can't wait til they are the Freshmen.

Oh, those Freshmen. They are finally at the top (until next year). They have had a rough time but have finally reached the summit of Junior High. They had better enjoy the power because next year they become sophmeats.

Jr. High life isn't always fun and games. Sometimes students think that it is all work and no play. When it comes time for football, the school clothes come off and the pads and uniforms go on. Fans, friends, and students come to the field to show their special spirit. That's why the Junior High football team had a record of 6 and 1, and the seventh grade team had a record of 7 and 1.

SPORTS STUFF

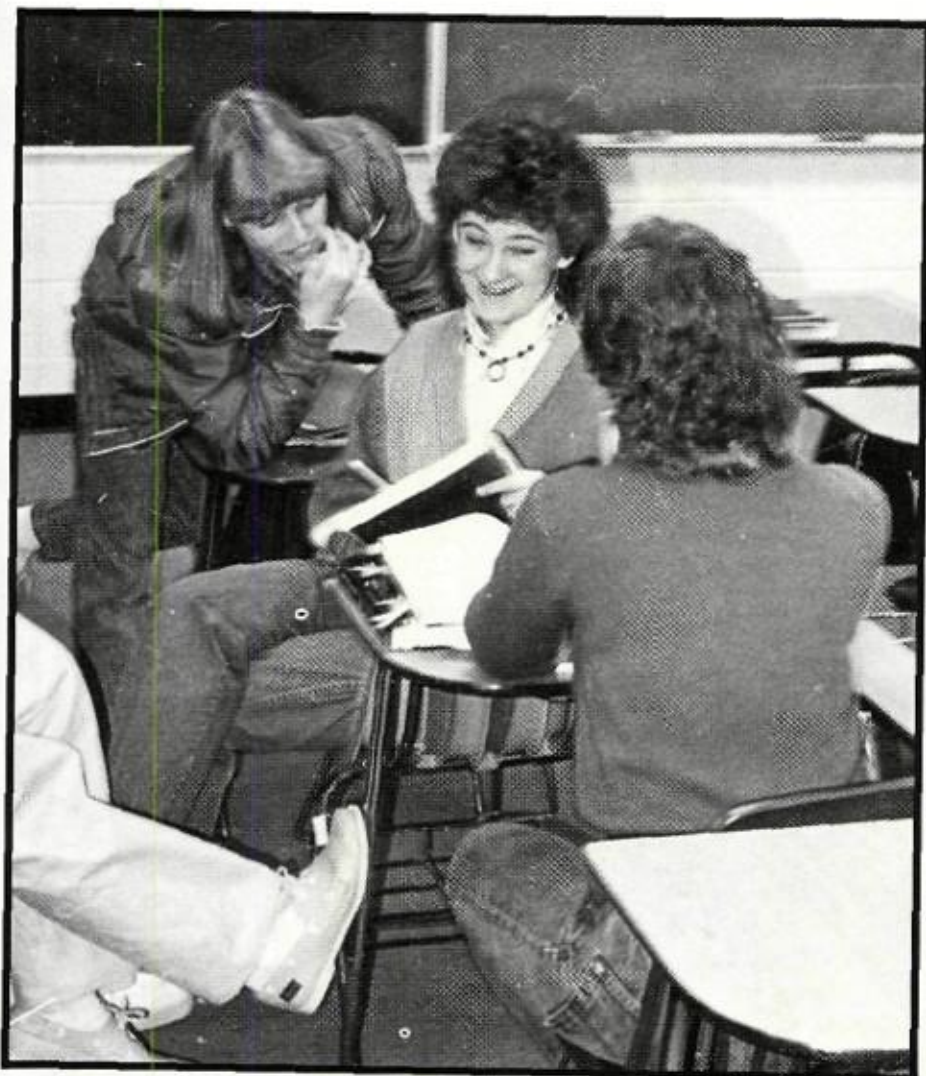

ABOVE: The Championship wrestling team of Terry and Jim Bob put on a little exhibition to impress the girls.
 LEFT: Is Wes planning to kill someone or is he just confused?
 LEFT MIDDLE: We all know Phillip is not staring at an English book, so who is she?
 LEFT TOP: Russell (Radar) Jackson always seems to find the best seat in the house.

ABOVE: Smiley Jones and his partner Grins Jernigan still keep a happy face no matter how bad school is.

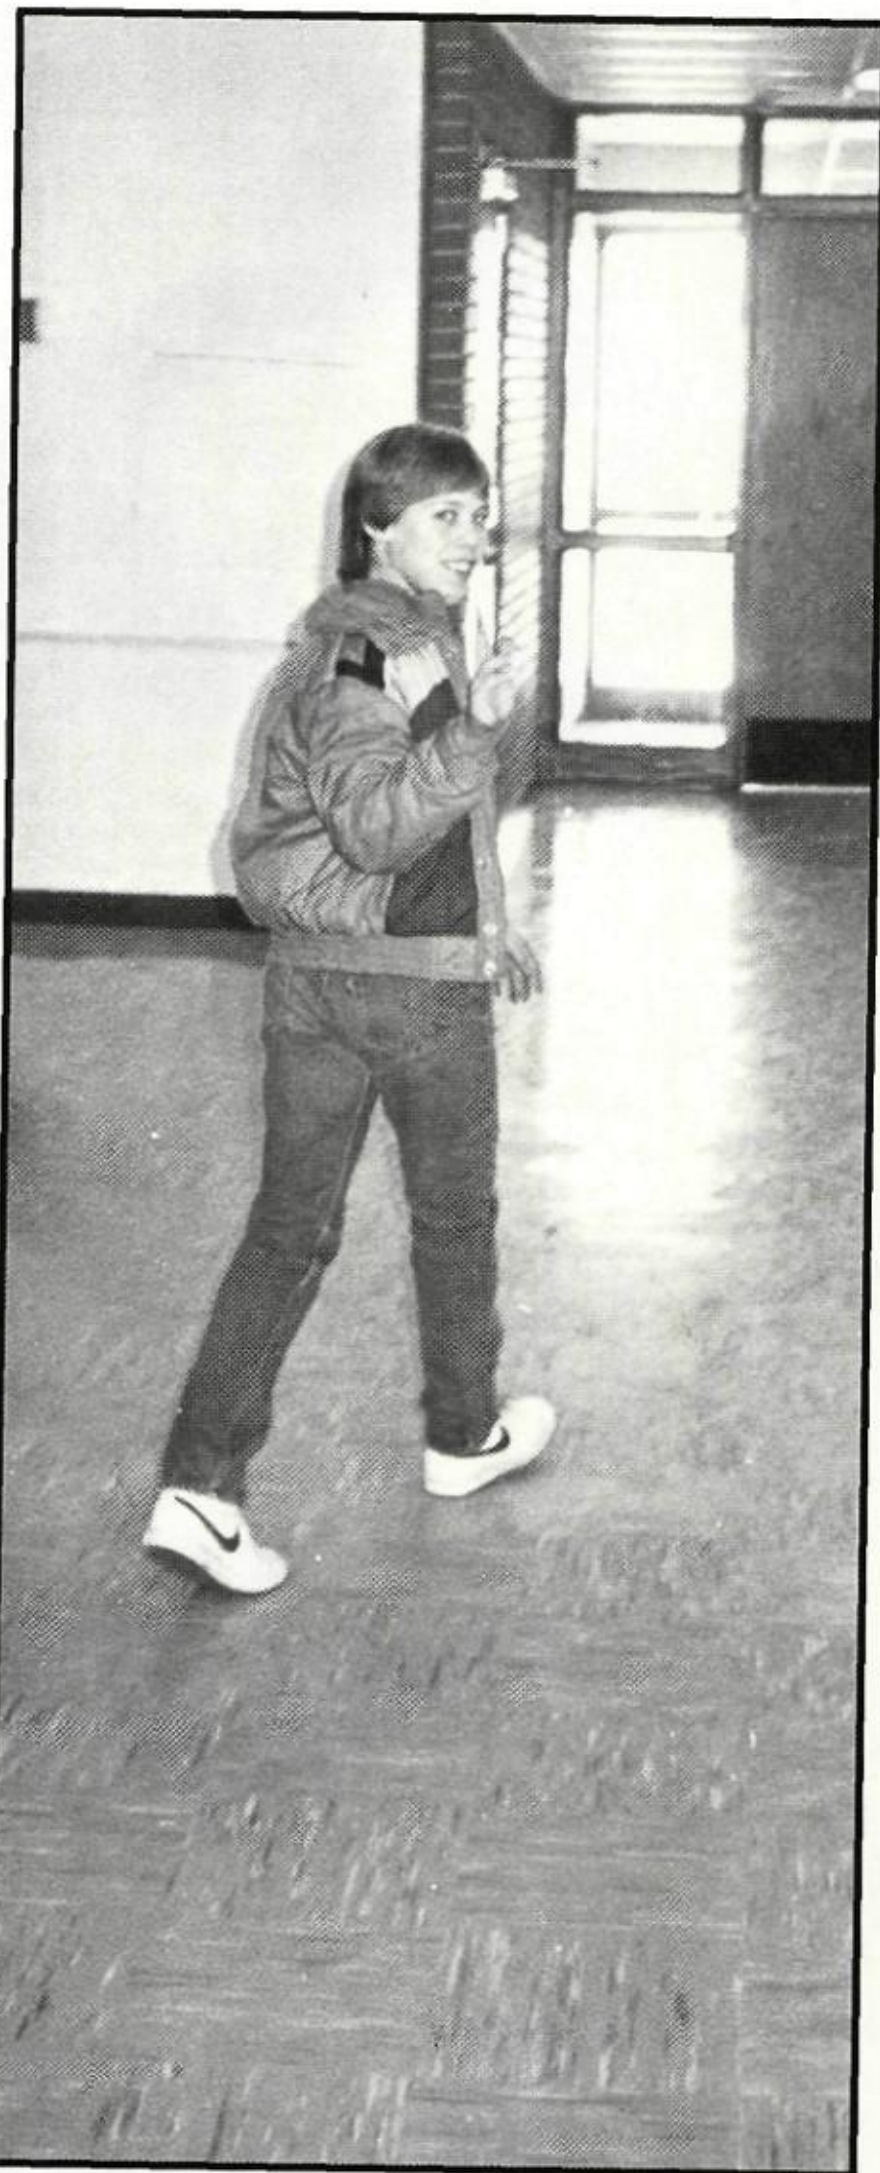

PRODUCER'S GRAIN

Could it possibly be homework Tammy and Nikki are looking at? (I doubt it.)

Opposite page, bottom: Mike has us all fooled with this studious pose.

BELOW: No, no not that dreadful dear John letter.

Matt (smiles) Syverson dashes to class as he blinds his classmates with his pearly whites.

LEFT: The cameraman was attacked by a pair of pink overalls, but Jennifer Norton had no idea where they could have come from.

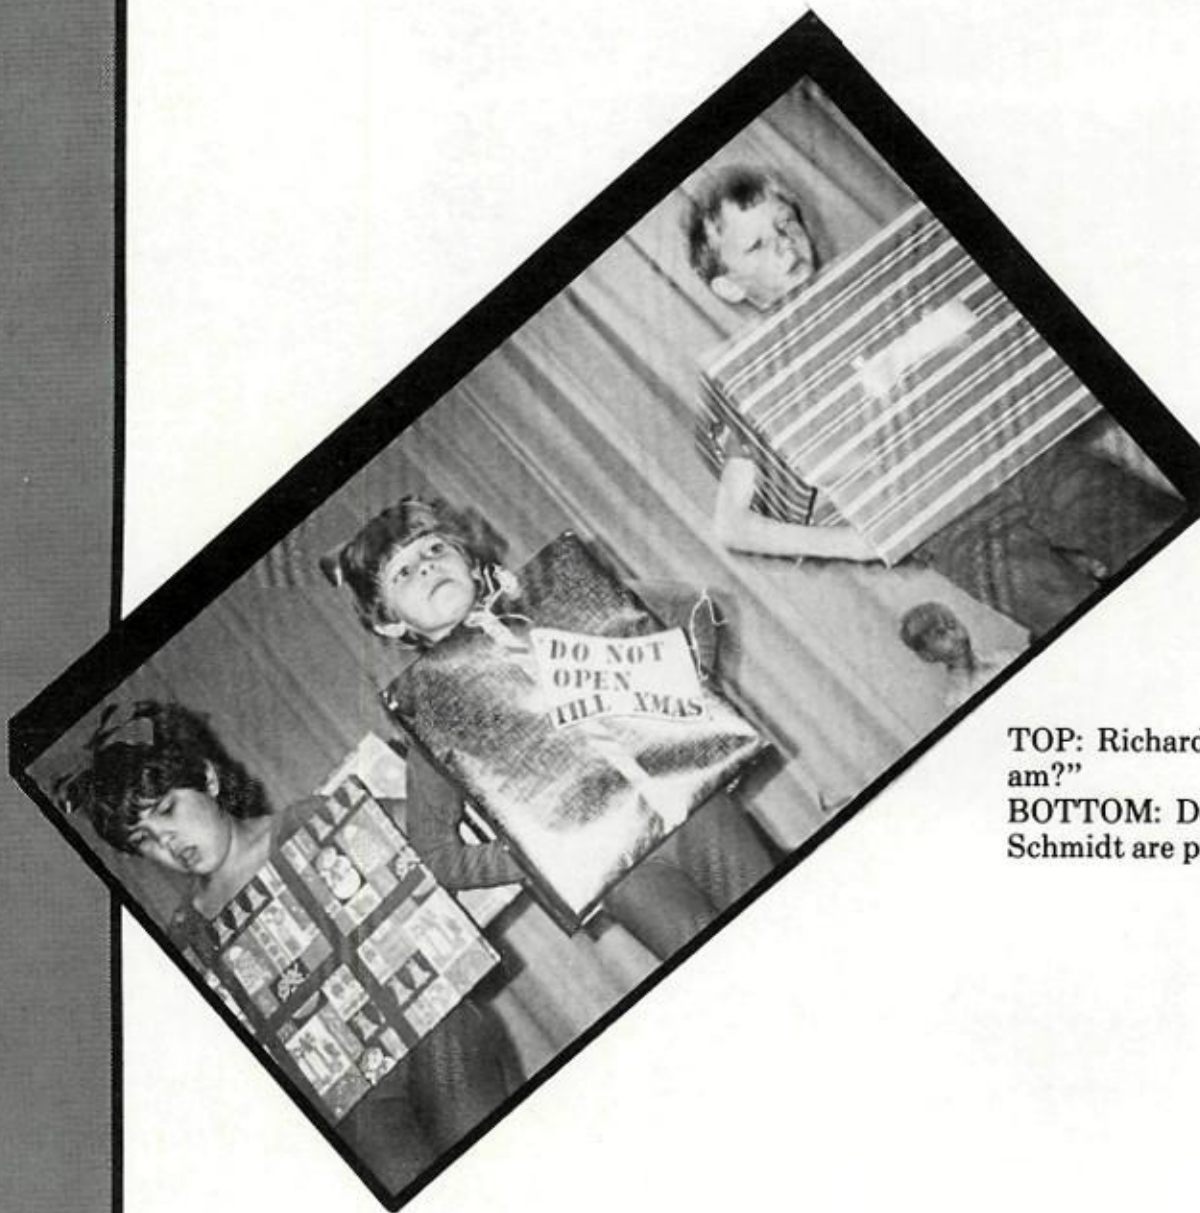

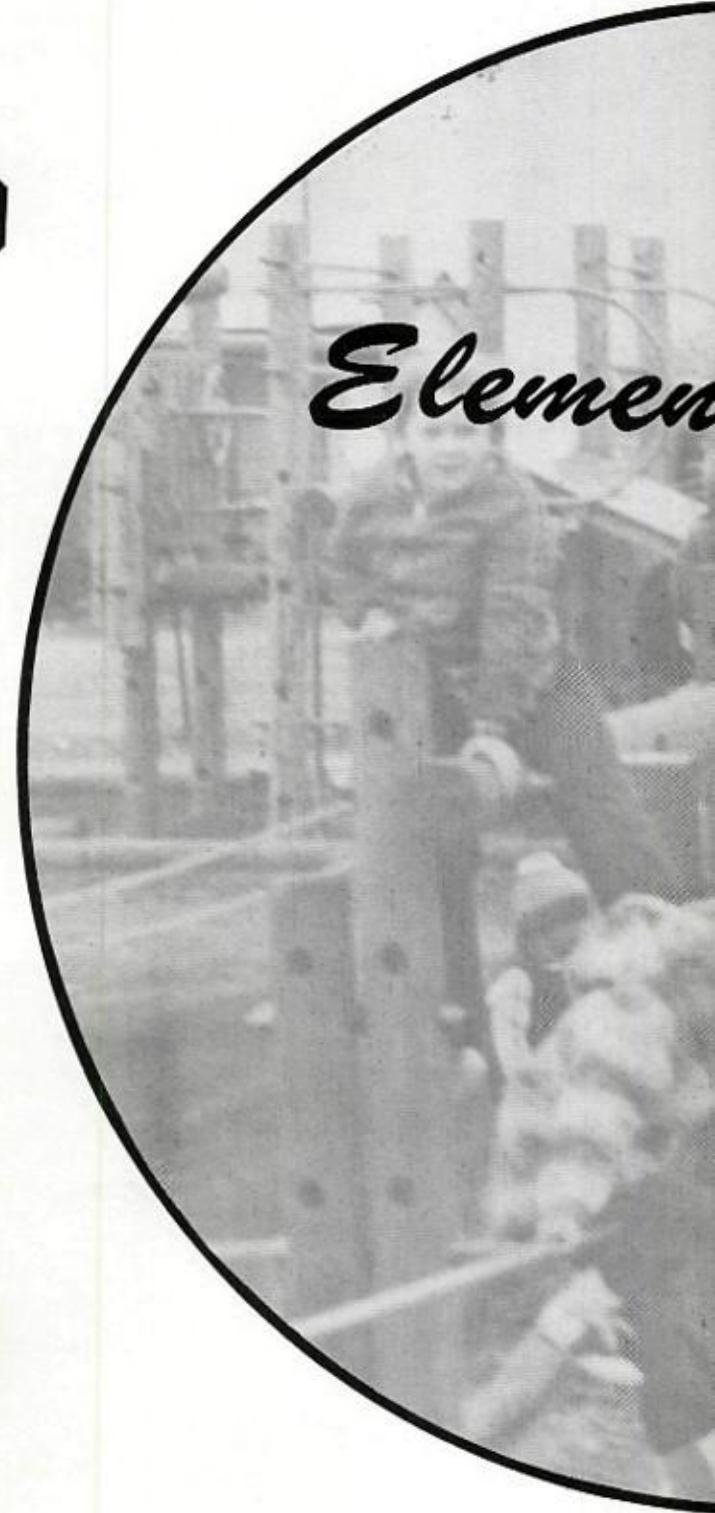

Opposite page, top: The 3 stooges (Dustin, Dallas, and Preston) try to convince Mr. Hyatt that they did do their homework. (Don't they look convincing!)

PIERCE'S KWIK MART

TOP: Richard Stephens asks, "Do you know who I am?"
 BOTTOM: Desiree Martin, Jeri Lundy and Jimmy Schmidt are presents in the Christmas program.

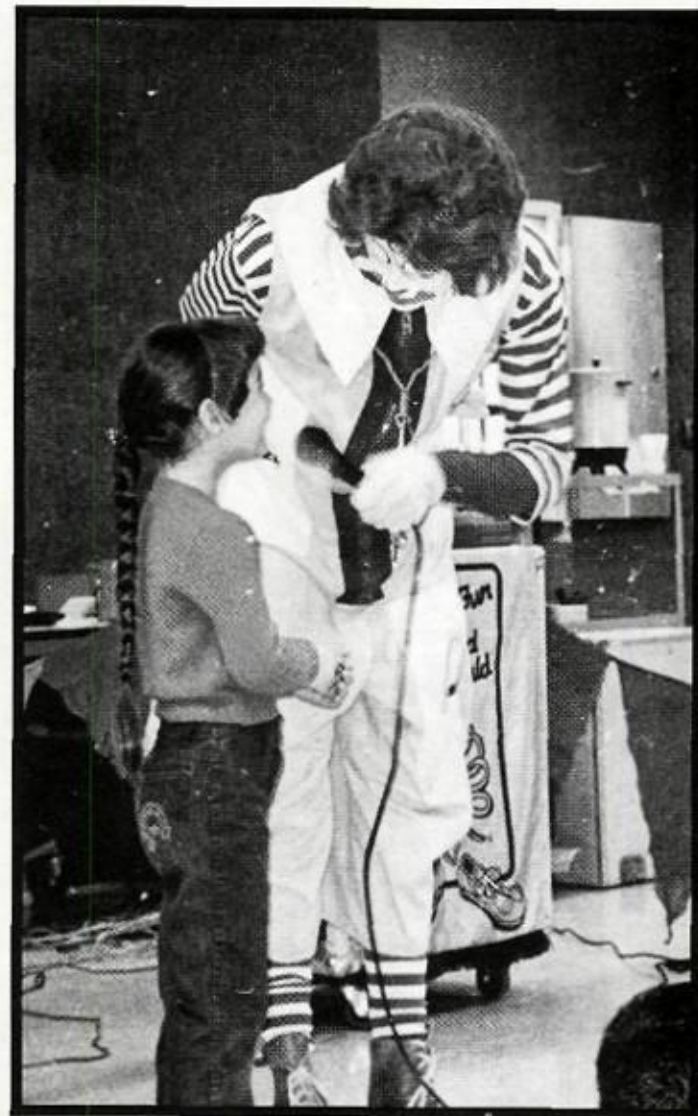

TOP: Melissa Buller and Lashanna Marshall dream of becoming future cheerleaders, at the homecoming parade.
BOTTOM: Scott Jordan and Chism Holt enjoy their morning snacks.

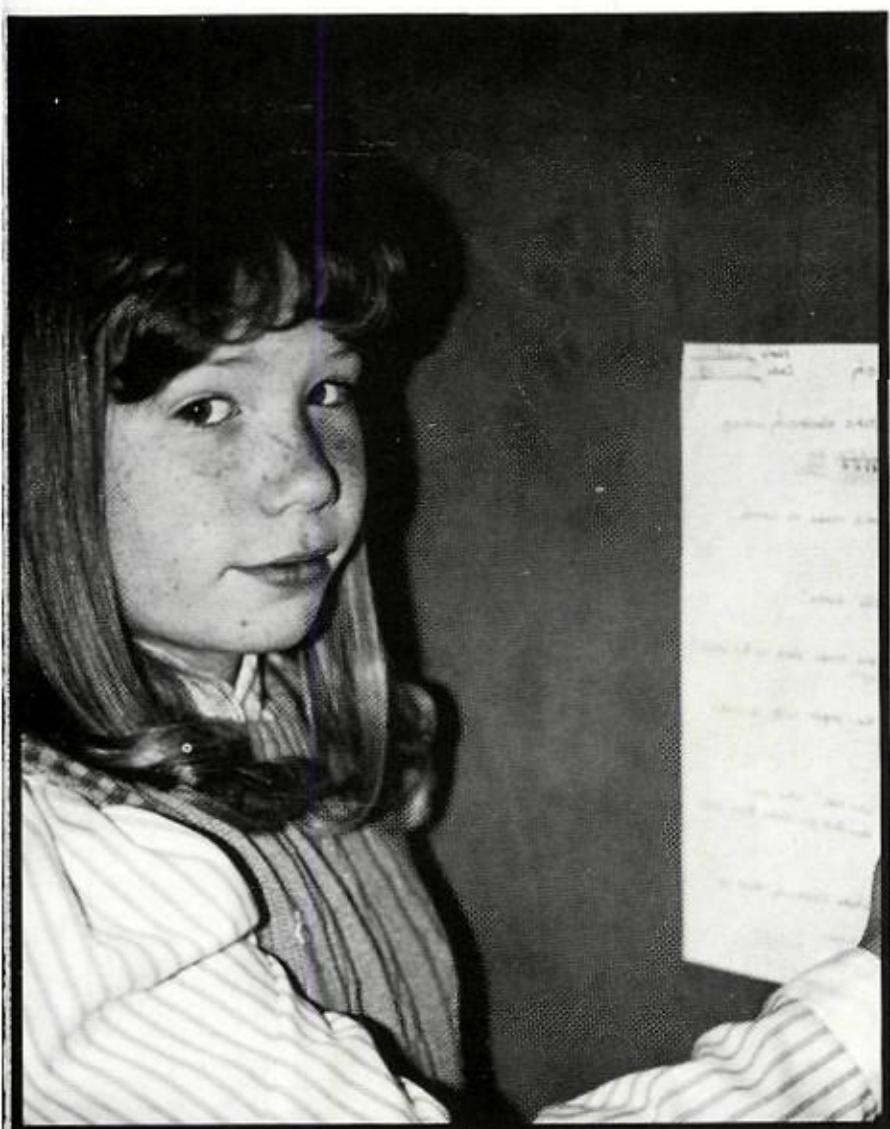

BILL & CAROL McCLURE

Elementary Spirit

No one forgets the elementary years. Being a little tyke is a blast. During this special spirited year, K-6 graders did things that will remain in their heads forever. In an always crazy and frantic atmosphere, the youngest members of our school system managed to have fun.

From recess to nap time to lunch time, the youngsters were always busy with a frenzy of activity and when it was required — learning something. Enthusiasm is the word to describe every student at Cordell Elementary as they lived through another school year.

BOTTOM: All the little kiddies enjoying the pep assembly on the courthouse lawn.

LOWER LEFT: Future cheerleaders attempt a pyramid.

BELOW: "Like my ears?"

LOWER RIGHT: Small fries chow down.

A Special Spirit

"Awesome," we said, "It's history!" and "Push your head," as we crowded the halls, shared the new library and junior high, and enjoyed — at last — the long-promised baseball field. Wearing fancy warm-ups, fluorescent colors, and wooden necklaces, we cheered teams that nearly reached the top, often losing voices and sleep. We sang, debated, groomed animals, and sometimes remembered homework.

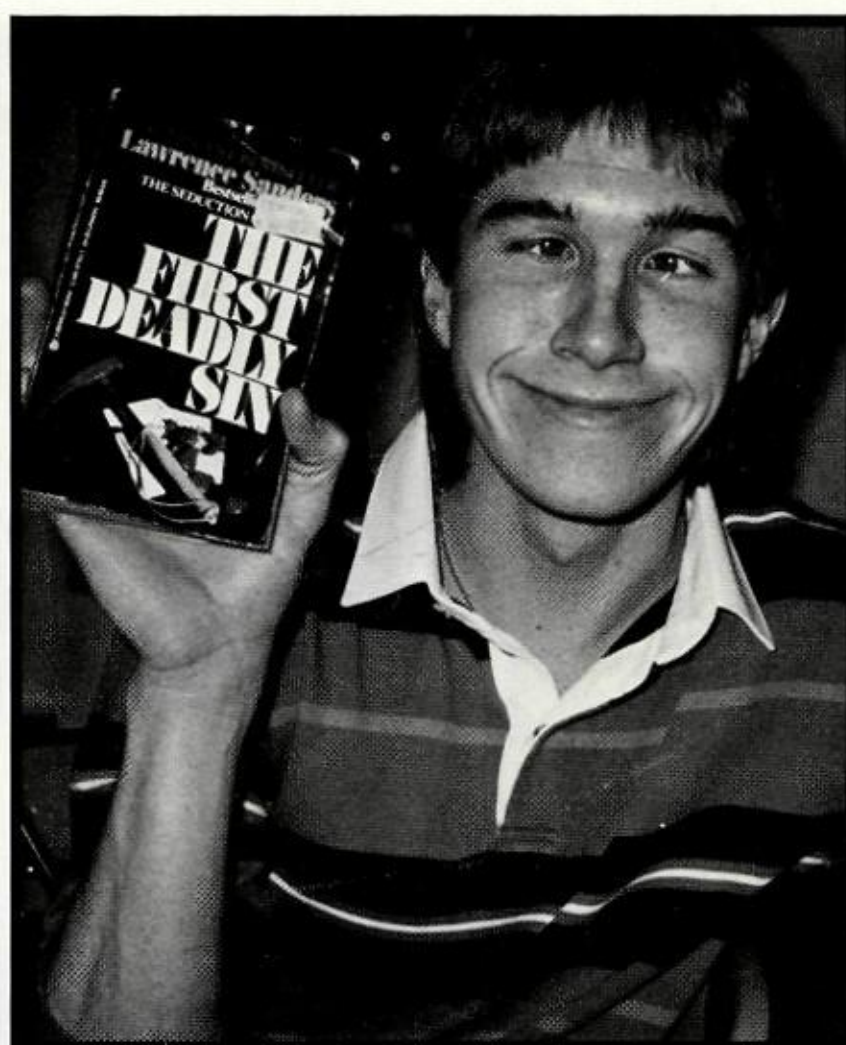

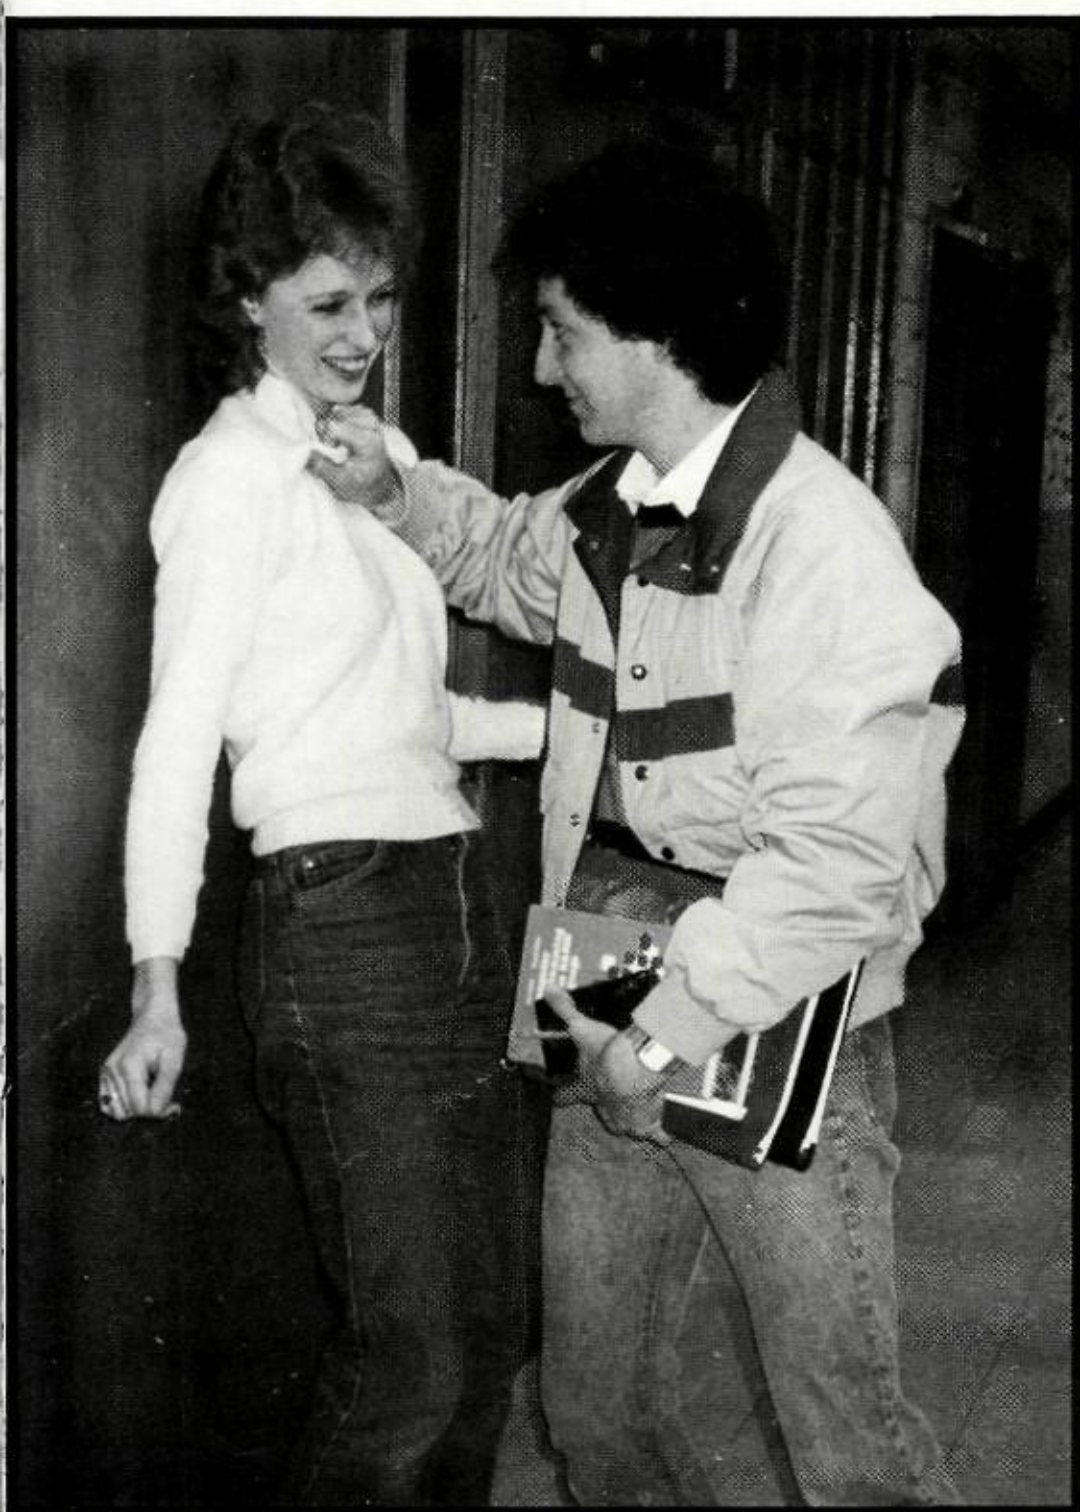

Being positive was easy, for we shared the spirit of a nation at peace. The brightness of the '84 Olympics carried through this year as television replayed the stellar performance of Mary Lou Retton. While Geraldine Ferraro made history as the first female candidate for vice president, President Ronald Reagan defeated Walter Mondale in a stunning 49-state landslide to gain a second term. And our applause joined the rest of the country when 37 top music performers and groups formed BAND AID, recording two hits that raised millions for famine relief in Ethiopia and demonstrated that special spirit of '84-'85.

TOP RIGHT: Mr. Masculine (Kris Schmidt) puts on the innocent look when he is accused of having several girlfriends.

ABOVE: Pam picks up on a hot piece of gossip as she casually strolls down the hall.

RIGHT: Could Courtney and Karla be trying to tell us something?

TOP: The band has fun no matter where they are, but which one's having the most fun?

ABOVE: Garrett should have definitely read the book long before now, because the effects of that first sin have already struck.

LEFT: Alayna always says Alan is "the most gentle person" — we can tell from this photo it is so very true.

us brothers;
None goes his way alone:
All that we send into the lives of others
Comes back into our own.*

Edwin Markham

Tracey.

I wish we could have spent more time together this year, but I hope we're still pretty close, though. It's going to be different next year without Abbi (I wish not) but I'm sure we'll manage. Good luck in the future but most importantly, have fun this summer!!!

love

Tracey
you're an overnice girl and a lot of fun to be around. Maybe you can do more things with us this summer.

Sara

Tracey,
You are a very sweet and pretty girl whom I like a lot. I hope we can become better friends in the future.
Good luck!
Shawn

Jeff Rainbolt

I have had a really great year. I hope to see you this summer.

Tracey
To a really sweet girl. Although I don't know you very well, I really think you're nice, so stay sweet and have fun this summer.

Tracey, Boy wasn't
Spanish Fun. (Haha) I really Hope we have a class or two together. Goodluck with Chris.

Love (with heart)
Stewart

Tracey, you are a very sweet person, a little bit
on the shy side though.
I like you alot!! Have fun next year!
Kimberly

Tracey,
It's been a bit
this year. What a
I do without you.
(in typing) Next year will be even more fun. It's scary to think just two more years
and we'll be going
our separate ways?
Take care
lay ya
love
Chad

Tracey,
It has been alot of fun this year. Maybe next yr we can understand our Algebra better. Stay
Sweet.
Love ya!
Michael
